

Belleville College choice urged by 2 groups

Acceleration of efforts to pinpoint the Belleville College as Quad-City's preference was authorized in unanimous votes by two local groups this week.

The decision by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors and the Quad-City Prayer Breakfast Group formed this year by the Granite City Rotary Club was to seek action by the Granite City, Madison and Venice Boards of Education.

Presentations on the topic were made by Attorney Leo H. Konzen, chairman of the Chamber's Junior College Study Committee, at the October Chamber dinner Tuesday night and at the monthly prayer breakfast yesterday. Both meetings took place at the restaurant.

Local petitions to create an entirely new junior college district, Southwestern Community College, remain in an active status out are expected to be rejected Oct. 19 at Rend Lake at a meeting of the Illinois Junior College Board.

The Granite City, Madison and Venice school boards favor creation of a new district but also are believed to wish to voice an annexation preference if a Southwestern formation election is barred by the IJC.

The groups meeting this week emphasized their strong preference for annexation to Belleville rather than to the Lewis and Clark Community College at Godfrey.

Dr. Fred Wellman, IJC executive secretary, wants to add this community to the financially-troubled Lewis and Clark but said this week the IJC will consider the proposal involving BAC if appropriate resolutions are submitted.

A speedup in preparation of a tentative statewide map of junior college territorial assignments and the fall meeting calendar complicate the effort to submit resolutions.

However, it is now hoped that the three local school boards will act at regular or special meetings early this month to indicate their preference for BAC.

An informal ballot to sample public opinion is published elsewhere on this page today. Readers are asked to vote for either Belleville or Lewis and Clark and forward the ballots to the Press-Record, 1815 Delmar Ave.

Factors cited by the study committee include Quad-City students' overwhelming preference for BAC as shown by their enrollment decisions.

BAC has stable, skilled administrative procedures developed over a 25-year period, new central campus facilities, efficient financial procedures and an established record of providing extensive instructional services to communities beyond Belleville, Konzen said.

Proceed with new Broadway route; state share increased

A new city-state-federal agreement under which the relocation of Broadway and Main streets in Venice is expected to begin early next year was approved by the Venice City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor John E. Lee said the agreement provides increased state and federal expenditures which will reduce the overall cost share for Venice to about $300,000.

The council's action Tuesday night hopefully will place the project on a Dec. 11 bid call by the State Department of Transportation, the mayor said.

The relocation work will extend Broadway through the newly constructed Broadway underpass to connect with FA Route 151 (The Great River Road) when it is built from Niedelingham Avenue in Granite City to Venice.

Main street will be relocated to connect with FA Route 151, intersection ramp and approaches to McKinley bridge.

The new agreement under which the state-federal contribution to the cost of the high way projects have been increased to 70 per cent of the estimated cost will mean a savings of approximately $300,000 to the city of Venice, Mayor Lee announced.

Mayor Lee, who has spearheaded the underpass and Broadway relocation projects since their inception nearly ten years ago, said the city's share of the actual construction cost is estimated at $190,100.

In addition, the city will be responsible for engineer costs estimated at $57,400 and the cost of employing a resident engineer during the construction period.

The estimated construction cost has been set at $755,400, plus engineering costs of $68,000, bring the overall cost to $823,400.

Of the total construction cost, the federal allocation will amount to $446,200 and the state will pay $117,100. The state also will share $10,600 of the engineering cost.

The city now has a fund of $400,000 with which to finance its share of the work. That fund was built up under Mayor Lee's direction over a period of years, putting in escrow funds received by the city for its operation of McKinley bridge before that income was cut off by delinquent revenue.

The city's fund now is invested in time deposits and will be available as needed. Under earlier plans, the city had estimated its share of the highway project at $600,000.

Expand Nameoki Village

Three commercial and professional business developments valued at $187,000—including a $140,000 addition to the Nameoki Village Shopping Center—were among ten building projects for which permits were issued by Granite City early this week.

L. Wolf Co. of Granite City is general contractor for a 7,000 square-foot addition to the shopping center. Construction is to start next week with tentative completion in January. It will be located north of the present Gasen's Drug Store.

Several stores already located in the shopping center are to move into larger quarters either next week or when the new addition is completed.

The Tessier & Sons Fabric Store will move into the largest portion of the new addition utilizing 5,500 square feet. A new ladies ready-to-wear store will occupy 2,200 square feet in the new portion. Owners of the store have not been announced.

Gasen's is to expand its storage area into existing adjacent facilities as the beauty shop and laundromat are relocated in larger quarters.

Additional 3,500 square feet of storage area will be occupied by Gasen's.

The beauty shop is moving from its present 2,000 square foot location into a new 3,200 square foot area and will add a boutique area.

A building permit also was issued to Dr. Hector Zevallos for a $40,000 project to remodel the former Illinois State Employment Service office at 2050 Iowa St. for a medical office.

Illinois State Employment and the Division of Unemployment Compensation has moved to 1820 Edison Ave.

William Houser of Houser Automotive Co. was issued a permit to construct a $7,000 warehouse addition at 1704 and 1706 Grand Ave.

Permits issued in the first two days of October included three for residential additions with values of $1,700, four for

Resume fees

A moratorium on the collection of $2.50 monthly sewer rental fees from approximately 4,300 householders in the original Nameoki sewer area will be rescinded immediately, City Treasurer Paul Rutledge announced this week.

Billing will be resumed as soon as bills can be prepared by his office, probably a matter of several weeks, Rutledge said.

The billing was dropped last December when it appeared that the city had accumulated enough money to pay off the balance of $1,335,000 bond issue sold 19 years ago to finance sewer construction in the area.

At that time Rutledge said that the collection of $13,000 in delinquent fees, which had not been collected at that time, would provide sufficient funds to justify the cutoff of monthly fees.

Rutledge said Monday the collection of delinquent fees had not been successful, and that an audit has disclosed there still is insufficient money available to pay off a $881,000 balance still due on the original $1,335,000 bond issue.

"We regret that the moratorium must end, but it is necessary to meet required payment of principal and interest on the outstanding bonds," the treasurer said.

The cessation of sewer fee collectors last December was limited to those residents living in the original Nameoki Sewer Area and did not affect households receiving sewer service in Particular Sewer Area No. 2 and Particular Sewer Area No. 3.

The original Nameoki Sewer Area embraces the area of the former Village of Nameoki which was annexed by Granite City in 1949.

Residents in the particular areas No. 2 and 3 have been paying the sewer rentals while the moratorium was in effect during the past nine months because sewer service was provided in those areas under separate bond issues.

The moratorium on fee payments meant a savings of $10,750 per month for the estimated 4,300 families in the area.

Rutledge said he is unable to determine how long the payments will be continued to meet the bond payment needs.

Plant employees help lift United campaign to 42%

With a big boost from industrial employees, including the Torch Club at Granite City Steel Co., Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign receipts reached 42 per cent at the initial report meeting yesterday.

Contributions and pledges recorded at the luncheon at the YMCA amounted to $168,818.

The basic goal of the fall 1973 drive is $400,000; all proceeds go to help the 18 member community service agencies finance their operations during 1974.

Figures announced were $153,837 Industrial, $4,016 Civic, $3,371 Professional, $2,205 Mail-Piece Division, $1,955 Construction, $1,615 Business, $1,545 Commercial and $280 Madison-Venice.

William F. Winter, general campaign chairman, conducted the meeting and drive procedures were explained by S. T. "Pete" Naar, executive director of the United Way.

Clyde "Bud" Boyd and George Pullman are co-chairmen of the Industrial Division, co-ordinating of employee and corporate giving at manufacturing plants.

Division chairmen include Mayor Paul Schuler, civic; Sister Mary Thomas, professional; Ernest A. Karandeff, business; Harold R. Fischer, commercial; Avery Schermer, Madison-Venice; Mrs. Joyce Schrader, mail-and-phone; and George Weiss, construction.

The next report meeting is set for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 10, at the YMCA.

Yesterday's invocation was offered by the Rev. Dr. Jim Anthis, pastor of Central Christian Church.

Attendance totaled 50, and there was general enthusiasm due to favorable results from some of the campaign efforts conducted during the past week.

Tempering the outlook was the campaign solicitors' awareness that drive success hinges on giving occurring at a level well above that of a year ago.

Not since 1968 has a Tri-Cities United Way (formerly United Fund) goal been attained.

Emphasis is being placed this year on a personalized approach, with each prospective contributor to be contacted directly by another individual.

In addition, it is being stressed that a real and serious financial need exists. Varied services by the United Way agencies directly affect nearly all Quad-City residents and workers, it was noted.

Yard sales debated

An ordinance that would regulate yard and garage sales in Granite City failed to move to final passage stage in a meeting of the City Council Monday night.

Instead, final action on the bill was blocked by a motion for deferral by Alderman Steve Basarich after council members had spent more than half an hour in discussion and listening to protests of the original ordinance by two women members of the audience.

The ordinance, which originally required a $5 permit fee for each personal property sale, and limited the number of sales to two each year and to two days for each sale, was amended three times during the debate.

Basarich's motion for deferral as the bill moved toward passage stage was given a second by Alderman Walker.

Nonetheless, the deferral motion automatically carried the issue over until the next meeting.

The first amendment of the proposed ordinance was presented by Alderman Ronald Coleman who called for reduction of the permit fee from $5 to $2. The motion opened the way for the lengthy argument in which Aldermen Nomm, Basarich and William Dallas opposed the bill.

Nonn said he felt $2 was "still too much" for a permit fee and that he did not believe the city had the right to tell the people what they can do in their own homes. Dallas said he believed the city had no legal right to pass such a law and Basarich declared that "you are hitting the little people."

Alderman Frank Greenwald opposed a suggestion the bill be tabled, noting that "if we table this bill we'll be right back where we started."

He said he believed the $5 fee was too high and that the ordinance also should ban such sales on Sundays.

Alderman Everett Morien said no ordinance was necessary because garage or yard sales, or any other kind of personal property sales in

Spotlight shortage of doctors

Despite hopeful signs, the local doctor shortage remains serious and may continue to be a problem throughout this decade, the Quad-City Prayer Breakfast Group was told yesterday.

Background briefings on several facets of health care needs were presented and a more detailed discussion of them is scheduled for the next breakfast gathering, to be held in November.

Hopeful signs include an expected national easing of the shortage of physicians, and Quad-City doctors' responsiveness to programs that might result in a partial local solution before then.

A medical doctor who participated in the breakfast meeting said there is increasing awareness among his profession of the advantages of forming industrial clinics and also of establishing group or joint practices.

Despite the favorable attitude, some of these steps have not been taken because specific doctors to fill needed positions have not yet been located, it was noted.

It was brought out that hospital emergency room delays stem partly from over-use in the evenings by those who did not obtain appointments at physicians' offices.

Another delay factor has been eased by the passage of a "good Samaritan" law in Illinois.

This newly-signed law limits the liability of doctors who treat an individual in an emergency situation even though the service rendered is not their major specialty.

A need cited is for doctors with special training in industrial medicine to serve the needs of small and medium employment businesses and utilities.

Recruiting problems were described as including the national competition with states offering better weather, and the past Madison County incidence of substantial financial judgments in lawsuits against doctors.

Judge chosen

Clayton Williams, 52, an Alton attorney, will be sworn in tomorrow as an associate judge of the Third Circuit, the first black man to be appointed to such a post in this circuit. He replaces Roy Strawn, who resigned to practice law.

Three persons were injured, two seriously, when the motorcycle of John DeVore, 28, of St. Louis, and the car of Earl Bryson, 1409 Second St., Madison, collided at 18th Street and Cleveland Boulevard at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The drivers and Miss Vickie Pruitt, 18, of 1337 Rhoda St., were injured. DeVore and Miss Pruitt, who was a passenger on the motorcycle, were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where they were admitted to the intensive care unit. He suffered fractured ribs, contusions to his knees and cuts to his forehead and right forearm. She suffered multiple abrasions. X-rays were taken of her skull, spine, right ankle and the right side of her face. Both improved to satisfactory condition and were taken out of intensive care Wednesday.

Bryson, 32, was treated for cuts to his right eyebrow and left shoulder. Sutures were administered. X-rays were taken and he was released.

DeVore was charged with reckless driving and disobeying a stop sign.

Dobrey bids Oct. 30

New bids for an interim drainage line for Dobrey Slough will be opened by the state Department of Transportation in Springfield Oct. 30, it was announced this week.

The event will mark the third time the project has been on the bid call. At the first bid opening in late June, no bids for the work were received and the $180,000 for the project had to be reapportioned by the state after the fiscal year ended June 30.

Two bids were received Sept. 14 at the second bid opening, but both were rejected as being too high. The state engineers estimated the project would cost about $24,000 to complete and the lowest bid received was 77 per cent over the estimate. That bid was from M. H. Wolfe & Co. of Granite City at $149,938. The other was from C. D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City, at $185,488.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Questions arose as to the differences between the state estimate and the contractors bids. A Wolfe spokesman said the state had not considered the necessity for dewatering the ground at the beginning and ending points of the drainage line.

The cost of pipe called for in the state specifications also was questioned by the contractors. In a letter to State Sen. Sam Vadalabene Monday, William R. Peele Jr., deputy assistant at the Illinois Department of Transportation, office of the secretary, attempted to clarify the differences in the cost of the pipe.

Part of the text of the letter follows. "In looking at the two bids, the estimates for purchase and installation of corrugated pipe are the points that are unacceptable to this department."

"The specifications of the contract call for 4,000 feet of eight-inch corrugated pipe to be installed in a two to three-foot ditch and to be covered. The price for purchase and delivery for the pipe is $2.80 per foot, yet the submitted estimates were in the range of $18 per foot for purchase and installation."

"In a similar section of the contract it calls for 844 feet of corrugated pipe at $5.60 per foot for purchase and delivery. The estimates for purchase and installation were in the range of $20.00 per foot."

John Bennett, acting chief of the division of water resource management for DOT requested Sept. 24 that state engineer estimates be re-evaluated. The new state estimate will not be announced until after the new bids have been opened Oct. 30.

The interim drainage line was designed by John C. Guillou who resigned as the chief state waterway engineer Sept. 15. The project is to provide temporary relief for Dobrey Slough residents whose homes are being damaged by a high water table.

Permanent relief is to be provided in about three years by a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' drainage project. The interim line is to pump the water underground from a wellhead and pump at the south edge of the slough south to the north right-of-way of Pontoon Road, then east along Pontoon Road to Starnes Avenue where it will empty into the Starnes Avenue sewer.

From there the water will flow in sewers owned by Granite City to a pump station at Pontoon Road and Wabash Avenue from where it will be pumped into the Nameoohi Ditch.

Water in the Namoohi Ditch flows south to Horseshoe Lake which empties through the Cahokia Canal into the Mississippi River. New outlet gates to regulate the level of Horseshoe Lake are nearly completed and will be in operation this fall.

State delay problem for River Fest

The Mississippi River Festival summer concert series at SIUE drew a record attendance of 99,971 at 13 musical events, including 12 appearances by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Whether it will be a five-year phenomenon or a permanent cultural asset of the region remains in doubt, partly because of the Illinois Arts Council's unprecedented delay in deciding how much or whether to contribute financially to the ambitious undertaking.

A decision on the long-contested 1974 season may be made by the IAC Oct. 22.

Unless the IAC contribution is substantially more than the pattern of the past two years, MRF Managing Director Peter Pastreich says he doubts that the Festival will survive.

Hurt in cycle crash

Charles Mize, 17, of 2123 Cleveland Blvd., and a passenger on his motorcycle, Ann Robertson, 14, of 2304 Cardinal Ave., were injured when the motorcycle and the auto of Patrick O'Garra, 3614 Village Lane, collided on Pontoon Road about 100 feet east of Sara Street at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Mize was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with abrasions to his face, left elbow, right hand and wrist and right knee. Ann Robertson suffered minor injuries.

OPINIONS ON NIXON NOT SURPRISING

To the Editor:
It's not at all surprising to see by the polls that a good majority of the American public believe that President Nixon knew and participated in the plans for the Watergate bugging and the subsequent cover-up. A quick look at his "track record" in politics shows why this is so.

And it's not at all surprising to see that a lot of his cohorts are currently and gradually being indicted for violations of the law. It's a shame that the wool was pulled over so many voters eyes by the use of the various "dirty tricks."

One of the many people under indictment is former Attorney General, John Mitchell. This man, who held the highest law enforcement job in the land, has publicly testified that anything, including crimes, was justified in obtaining the end result of getting the President re-elected.

This same John Mitchell is the guy who single-handedly allowed the ITT-Hartford merger. I am glad to see that the Watergate Committee and also Archibald Cox's Special Committee are again investigating this illegal merger and it's possible tie-in with political contributions and "deals."

There is yet another merger, just as illegal and just as surreptitiously contrived, which should be investigated also. I refer to the merger of Granite City Steel and National Steel.

This same John Mitchell twice vetoed Asst. Attorney General McLaren's recommendations that the Justice Department sue the merger. Judge McLaren was a recognized expert on anti-trust law and occupied the highest job in the Justice Department in this field.

Congressional Anti-Trust experts, Senator Harris and Congressman Celler, publicly proclaimed this merger to be in violation of the law and past court rulings.

Yet, after Mr. Gulley went to Washington to see Mitchell, all of these recommendations were tossed aside. No explanation was given, although we were promised we would be heard and told of the hearings.

Accordingly, we have asked the Watergate Committee, the Cox Special Committee, the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Committee, and Attorney General Richardson, to again investigate this merger.

We have asked them to look for anything illegal, for political contributions in return for Mitchell's ruling, and for any hanky-panky that might have occurred. We have asked for public disclosure of why this merger was allowed.

Blaze endangers oil-filled tanks today, quelled by firemen

Fire apparently caused by sparks from a welder's torch destroyed a frame shed and burned the insulation off one of two fuel oil tanks at the Archer Daniels Midland Corn Sweeteners plant on 19th Street shortly before 11 a.m. today.

The fire at the former Union Star & Refining Co. plant originated in insulation on the east tank while welders were using torches to cut the steel railing off the top of the west tank.

Spread clothing purchases CHILD'S PLAY 'Gems' celebrate Columbus Day

By PAT and MARILYN DAVIS
Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My mother insists on buying all my clothes at the beginning of the school year. I get so tired of wearing the same old thing all year that I could scream. How can I convince her to buy more?

Dear Cindy:

By convincing her to buy less. Suggest that you buy only half as much as usual and save the money to buy something new later. You might also hint that Christmas is not too far off and that clothes make wonderful presents.

The mis-and-match outfits are really in this year and if you select this style you won't get quite so tired of your wardrobe and it will seem much larger. Add different scarves, blouses, belts, vests, and other accessories.

Columbus Day commemorates the date the explorer landed on San Salvador in 1492. The official date was Oct. 12, which is sometimes hard to remember now that the holiday is celebrated on a Monday so people can enjoy a three-day weekend.

Classroom plays and skits are a popular way of remembering the discovery of the New World, and so are home or backyard productions. There are many historical legends about those long-ago events. One scene, popular to depict, is how Columbus convinced the queen of Spain about the possibilities of his schemes. She is remembered for giving her crown jewels to finance that adventurous expedition.

From a distance, especially if you will have a necklace that will look like silver gems. It will glisten and shine in a manner worthy of a queen or to inspire a brave explorer.

working cost fund.
As of Aug. 31, these accounts had a total balance of $488,901.

To this was added state sales and income taxes received during September, but the $275,839 payment Monday night required a transfer in that amount from these accounts to the sewer maintenance fund.

The city has 14 sewer breaks, including a new one reported last week east of West 25th street in a line that serves A.O. Smith Corp. and north Granite. Payments to the contractor have been for completed repairs on seven of these.

City officials noted that if the cost for repairs on the remaining seven breaks is about the same, the city will spend at least $1 million for the repairs, or about $200,000 more than was appropriated for the work.

While the city expects to receive reimbursement of some of the cost under the federal government's flood disaster relief program, the work must be completed before the flood damage claims will be met.

The city is expecting an ad-hoc payment of $50,000 under the flood disaster program, and Mayor Paul Schuler told the council he will meet with EPA officials in an effort to speed up that payment.

At the same time, city officials explained Monday night that the city is without funds to pay bills for continued work on the secondary sewage treatment plant at the Granite City Army Installation.

The contracting firm, G. L. Tarlton Co. of St. Louis has agreed, however, to continue work without interruption until the city can sell its $4.1 construction revenue bond issue.

Such payments that would accrue prior to the availability of city funds would draw 10 percent interest for the firm, according to the company's proposal.

Schuler said he did not know if this interest rate is legal, but that the matter is being checked by the city attorney's office.

The city has been borrowing money from the sewage treatment plant fund, but that account has been exhausted, according to Rutledge.

First conviction on new state bingo law

The first criminal conviction for an illegal bingo operation in Illinois on Monday has prompted state Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin to remind bingo operators of the state's commitment to strictly enforce the law.

"The state will not tolerate violations of the bingo law which jeopardize gains conducted by so many law abiding citizens," Alphin said.

Thousands of dollars generated by the bingo law provide needed revenue which is distributed to the state's Common School Fund and Mental Health Fund," he noted.

"Additionally, proceeds collected by the legal operation of bingo are literally keeping many worth organizations, such as schools and churches, in existence."

A Decatur businessman, currently facing charges of Illinois tax fraud, was fined $3,000 late Monday after pleading guilty to conducting an illegal bingo operation.

Thomas F. O'Connell, 40, president of Tom O'Connell Auto Auction, pleaded guilty to three violations of the Illinois Bingo License and Tax Act, and to illegal gambling.

The games were operated under the sponsorship of Elite Masters, a fraternal organization of which O'Connell was president.

Madison County Associate Judge Lester Brinkmeier gave O'Connell until Jan. 11 to pay the fine.

—$1,000 for illegal gambling; —$1,000 for permitting non-members of the organization to operate the game; —$500 for offering special bingo cards which were limited to certain games.

—$500 for paying workers in the operation of the game.

News notes

President Nixon said at a press conference yesterday that allegations against Vice President Agnew are "serious, not frivolous, but that Mr. Agnew is free to defend himself as he sees fit. The President said he approves of Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry P. Petersen's handling of the grand jury investigation.

The federal judge handling it, U. S. District Judge Walter Hoffman, told the jurors Wednesday in an unusual public hearing that they must not let themselves be influenced by news articles. He said the day is approaching when "the perpetual conflict" between press freedom and suspects' rights will need to be resolved.

The White House on Tuesday imposed a mandatory allocation system on wholesale supply of propane gas. A system to allocate home heating oil is planned in the near future.

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled 5-2 Monday that most of the state aid to non-public schools is unconstitutional. It barred $20 million for secular textbooks and auxiliary services and $4 million for tuition aid.

The court last undecided a $5 million allocation to innovative education programs run jointly by public and private schools has not yet been created.

The Cost of Living Council on Tuesday allowed prices to increase on soap, detergents, paper products and auto tires. It will scrutinize new price increases announced on wholesale gasoline—raises which further squeeze service stations, whose retail prices are being limited.

Grand jury investigations of Gov. Walker and Mayor Daley of Chicago are being considered in Cook County due to liquor-related campaign fund raising and city insurance contracts.

The $13.7 million assessment of President Nixon's San Clemente, Calif., residence is to be reviewed to see if it should be raised in an unrelated development, a Providence, R.I., newspaper said. The newspaper said he paid $1.67 million in federal income taxes for 1970 and 1971 and received $130,551 in tax refunds.

President Nixon plans to visit Ireland several times during the Far East next year.

An Illinois Higher Education Board committee created Tuesday will review the tuition policy at Illinois public colleges and universities.

Bids are to be opened Oct. 24 on construction of a proposed $7 million, 123-bed hospital at Routes 162-159.

State plans direct role in flood control projects

Gov. Dan Walker issued an executive order Tuesday creating a Governor's Task Force on Flood Control. Goals are coordinating state activities regarding flood control and state policy to guide decisions on control projects.

The task force will work out procedures to bring citizens and local governments into the planning and implementing of all flood control projects, he said. He appointed Mrs. Nancy S. Phillips, 38, Springfield, as director of the new task force at a yearly salary of $27,000.

The task force will make its recommendations within one year, Gov. Walker said.

Members will be the secretary of transportation, directors of the Department of Agriculture, Local Government Affairs and Conservation, and directors of the Environmental Protection and Civil Defense agencies.

The governor said, "For too long decisions on dams, reservoirs, dredging and other flood control projects have been made on an ad hoc basis with few or no statewide policies for guidance."

"Primary responsibility and authority for flood control projects have been fragmented among six state departments and agencies. Other departments are directly affected by and concerned about flood control policies."

"No single, coordinated approach to the flood control problem has been possible under this divided organization."

"Even more disturbing, these decisions have too often been made without regard to the wishes of residents who will be most directly affected and local governments which will have to live with the project."

"That is not the way to protect the best interests of Illinois taxpayers. Neither is it the way to protect homeowners, farmers and businesses from the ravages of floods."

"We must come up with a unified policy for flood control in Illinois."

He added that, in the past, decisions on whether to proceed with flood control projects have been made without benefit of inter-agency guidelines, without an overall plan for flood control and with little involvement by citizens or local government.

Gov. Walker and the task force plan to outline conditions with respect to environmental impact, land conservation, local sharing in the cost of water supply, and other factors before flood control projects can proceed.

Fire prevention programs in area

In observance of national Fire Prevention Week which begins Sunday, area fire departments are planning special activities to alert the public of fire dangers.

The Granite City Fire Department is planning a program of free residential inspections. Residents who would like their homes inspected and fire dangers pointed out may call the main fire station.

The program will start during Fire Prevention Week but the firemen intend to continue it throughout the year.

Firemen also will visit schools in the city to educate children on fire safety.

All Granite City fire stations will hold open house each week evening of next week from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. A demonstration of the aerial truck and pumper will be held at the main fire station Saturday, Oct. 13, at 1 p.m.

Special group tours of the fire stations also will be arranged on request. Calls should be directed to the main station.

The Madison and Venice fire departments will use the week to urge citizen participation in the "Tag Finder" program. Firemen are providing Tot Finder decals which should be placed on the windows of children's bedrooms and on their bedroom doors, alerting firemen to the location of the children in the event of a fire.

Madison also plans several business and school checks during the week to identify fire dangers.

The Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department is planning a trip during the week to Mitchell School with a fire truck and a surprise fire drill at the school. They also will be participating in the Tot Finder program during the week.

Janet Lynn to headline Ice Follies at arena

Janet Lynn, Olympic medalist and five times U. S. National Champion, will headline the 1973 version of Shipstade and Johnson Ice Follies at the St. Louis Arena this month.

Reservations are being accepted immediately by the Granite City Park District for an ice Follies performance on Sunday, Oct. 21, at 6 p.m. Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today.

Only 45 tickets are available for this season's show through the park district, Brown said, noting the annual trip usually is "sold out" at an early date.

Tickets, costing $4 for adults and $2.50 for children under 16 years, are available at the Wilson Park office.

Roundtrip transportation by bus will cost an additional $1.30 per person, Brown said. The bus will leave the Wilson Park rink driveway at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 21.

Good seating and concessions again have been secured for the Fire Department has initiated a public campaign to alert residents of fire dangers including faulty home heating equipment, electricity, gasoline storage, flammable liquids, non-fire-resistant clothing and the danger of not having pre-planned escape routes from homes in the event of a fire.

Rabbits have increased population 20 per cent from last year's figures, particularly in the south and southwest parts of the state.

However, since the overall rabbit population is still an estimated 30 per cent less than the 1957-58 high counts, daily bag limits are being reduced this year from five to four per day, with a possession limit of eight.

In the late 1950s, the average hunter bagged three rabbits each trip, but today's daily average bag is only one.

Pheasants, rangewide, appear to be nearing the record

BUILDING UP ICE continues today at Wilson park rink in preparation for the opening skating session at 1 p.m. Sunday. Kenneth Marti, a park district employee, adds more water to the rink surface, a process repeated until the ice reaches a thick ness of 1½ inches. A Zamboni machine then is used to level and smooth the ice crust, completing the pavilion's transformation from summer to winter use.

Game population on rise

Pheasant, quail and squirrel are breeding like rabbits in Illinois, the Conservation Department reports. So are the rabbits.

Game management personnel in the department report that only doves have shown a decrease in numbers since last year.

With hunting seasons either already open or rapidly opening, the outlook seems to be good.

Pheasants, rangewide, appear to be nearing the record high which were recorded in 1963-64, with the statewide population up 10 per cent from last year. The best ring is in east central Illinois. The outlook for the north appears good, too, with good production of ringnecks recorded.

Bag limits for pheasant have been increased from two to three cock birds daily for the 1973 season, which opens Nov. 10 and runs through Jan. 15. Possession limit is six.

Forecasts indicate a much improved season this year for quail hunters, since these birds have already increased roughly 10 per cent over last year's totals. South and southwest areas have the biggest increases in quail, but substantial growth has also been noted in the northwestern part of the state.

The daily bag limit is eight, unchanged from last year, with a possession limit of 16. The quail season also runs from Nov. 10 through Jan. 15.

Squirrel season has already opened and before it closes on

Ice skating starts Sunday at park rink

Public skating starts Sunday afternoon at Wilson Park rink with three general sessions slated, beginning at 1 p.m. and an "adults only" period from 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Preparing the rink surface for skating is continuing today with no problems anticipated to delay the opening, Harold Brown, park superintendent, noted. Unseasonably high temperatures have affected the ice build up procedure on an occasion in previous years.

Sessions for children and adults are scheduled Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m., 5:30 to 8 p.m.; and from 8 to 8:30 p.m. An extra skating period is planned from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Monday due to Columbus Day when local students will not attend school.

At Sunday's sessions, registration and fees will be accepted from youngsters wishing to attend "State School" classes at the Wilson Park rink. The first class in the seven-week instruction series will take place Saturday morning, Oct. 11.

Classes will be limited to 12 or 15 pupils, with instruction in basic freestyle and gamma level skating to be given from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. each Saturday, and beginner and alpha and beta levels taught from 11:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

Cost of the instruction is $3 for a resident of the Granite City Park District who shows a park district ID card and $6 per person for non-residents.

Schools, banks close Monday in Columbus Day observance

Schools, banks and several offices in the Quad-Cities will close Monday in observance of the Columbus Day three-day holiday.

All Quad-City public and parochial schools will be closed Monday. Normal schedules will resume Tuesday.

Parochial schools will observe only a three-day week as they will close the following Friday, Oct. 12, for a Diocesan Teachers' Institute.

There will be no home mail delivery or counter service in the three Quad-City U. S. Post Offices Monday. Renters of boxes will be able to get their mail.

Area banks and Savings and Loan Associations also will be closed.

The Illinois Employment Services and Division of Unemployment Compensation offices at 1939 Edison Ave. will be closed, as well as the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

City offices in the area will all be open during regular business hours Monday, along with retail stores.

GC mall a must—Schuler

Assurance that the Granite City administration will continue to seek approval for a downtown mall was given by Mayor Paul Schuler during a talk to members of the Quad-Cities Ministerial Association Tuesday at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue.

"We do not want to abandon the mall project. We have to get it started and started right away to save the downtown area," Schuler commented.

He said the city's Community Resources Commission, headed by Casper Nighossian, special city attorney for the project, are continuing to explore ways to gain final approval of the mall. Answering questions from the audience on the "state of the community," the talk continued. Schuler said the possibility of a joint city-township office building is being explored but that a feasibility study will be necessary before serious consideration can be given to the plan.

The mayor said talks are continuing on the planned extension of Maryville Road from its present northern end south to Route 162. He said Madison County is to finance most of the work and a meeting to discuss financing is to be held next week.

The ministers expressed fears that drug abuse, particularly among teenagers, is growing in the community and that programs are needed to reverse the trend. They also supported several law and order programs, including building of a new Madison County Jail.

They noted that citizen involvement in programs to improve the community seems to be increasing and said they felt the monthly prayer breakfasts are an example of growing community awareness.

Student is semi-finalist

Eugene M. Arnold Jr., a senior student at Venice High School, has been named a semi-finalist in the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students.

Out of the 30,000 black students across the nation who requested consideration in the competition in October 1972, a total of 1,400 semi-finalists will compete for further consideration.

In addition to this program, Eugene also received a letter of commendation in recognition of his high performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Students receiving letters are among the top 2 per cent of high school seniors.

Answer fire calls

Granite City firemen responded to two alarms Tuesday, the first at 2:35 p.m. at the home of Veronica Nailing, 2425 Adams St. A pan of food on the stove overheated and started a fire in the kitchen of the home which caused $500 damage.

The second call was to 19th Street and Edison Avenue at 9:15 p.m. after lightning struck a vapor street light, damaging the light and setting utility poles on fire.

Crash on 20th

Jerry Wolfe, 27, of Edwardsville, suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident on 20th Street and the railroad crossing Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 8:40 p.m. The drivers of the other cars were Albert Massey, Cahokia, and Daniel Shelby, Washington Park.

Shelby was charged with driving while intoxicated, illegal transportation of liquor and reckless driving.

Trojans and Steelers on road, Warriors host Alton Redbirds

The three Quad-City high school football teams will be in action again this weekend. The Madison Trojans and the Steelers of GCHS North will be on the road and the Warriors of GCHS South will be at home in their second Southwestern Conference game.

South, which last year posted a 5-2 conference record including a 7-6 victory over Alton, will meet the Redbirds Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at South Stadium.

Madison, 6-3 after being defeated 24-0 by Assumption last weekend, travels to Sparta tomorrow to meet the Bulldogs at 8 p.m.

And the new GCHS North squad, 0-3, having been downed 32-0 by Wood River in its last outing, will play its second road game at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Roxana.

Last year, down 6-0 at half-time, South Quarterback Dave Dombek hit Hal Back Daye, Williams with a touchdown pass to tie the score at 6-6 early in the fourth period. An extra point kick by Brad Hiles gave the Warriors the 7-6 victory.

Coach Wayne Williams described that win as "a defensive victory." Near the end of the game, Alton began a hard downhill drive. But the tough South defensive unit forced a fumble, recovered by Kevin Hollis, and Alton failed to regain possession.

South, 3-1 so far this year, played its first conference game of the season last weekend and defeated Edwardsville 17-3 for a 1-0 league record.

"The Trojans, seeking their first victory of the season tomorrow, hope to avenge a 20-0 loss to Sparta last year."

"It's a terrible feeling to go into a game as a three-touchdown underdog," as Coach Al Underhafer sees it.

"But I think we are finally coming of age. We played a 100 per cent improved game last week."

"If we play competitively against Sparta, with little or no penalties, we have a good chance of coming out on top."

Vonder Haar said the Trojans have increased pressure on them. Players are still going "both ways," playing offensively and defensively. They are without the services of Chris Stanley, who has an injured ankle, and defensive back Mike Walker, who suffered a broken foot in the Assumption game.

"We have athletes who are capable of winning," he said, "and a victory right now would give us the extra incentive we need."

The Steelers of North, plagued with injuries, will also meet the Bulldogs at 8 p.m.

Both Madison and North are independent football clubs, not belonging to any conference, whereas the Warriors of South would like nothing better than to capture their first conference football championship since 1946.

Soccer Warriors win 1-0

The soccer Warriors, who last year posted a record of 21 wins, one loss and two ties enroute to the state championship, won 1-0 at Collinsville Monday to improve their present record to 9-1-1.

South High scored in the first half when freshman Rich Becherer—assisted by Joe Grace, who kicked the ball to him from crossfield—pushed the ball into the net from the right corner.

Coach Gene Baker, noting that Becherer is now a regular on the team, commented, "Rich has earned it by his initiative and his performance in competition."

Baker also complimented the defensive players and the team as a whole, including Goale Keith Kibort, who has allowed only six points in 11 games, seven of them shutouts.

Kibort, whose team outshot Collinsville 20-0 is credited with saving two highly possible enemy goals.

Others who are to play for the alumni team this year were members of the 1973 Cougars' team: Catchers Roger Belshe and Tim Summers; first baseman Bill Campbell; third baseman John Crenshaw; outfielders who see action are Dan Cole, Gary Collins, Dan Weaver, Dennis Schutenhofer, Rick Keefe and Mike Allerla.

Former mound stars will include Steve Malone, the Cougars' all-time winningest hurler, and Ron Middleton, who owns the only no-hitter hurled by an SIUE pitcher.

Baltz, Johnson, Twellman, Peterson and Greenwald are returning lettermen. Baltz is the No. 1 righthanded hurler and Johnson will take care of southpaw duties.

Trophies, cash awards at race

More than 80 cash trophies and $1,000 in cash prizes were awarded during drag racing programs Saturday night and Sunday at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

Track officials announced Saturday's event was the final Saturday night race of the season, but Sunday daytime competition will continue as long as weather will permit.

Wednesday night grudge racing also is to continue until the weather prohibits. A special Sunday race is being arranged for Oct. 14 with details to be announced next weekend.

The harriers of Madison High, with just one cross-country event remaining on their schedule, have yet to capture their first meet of the season. The runners of Loyevoy of Brooklyn defeated them Monday 23-36 at Madison.

Trojan Rudolph Bradley, who last week defeated the harriers of Marquette to post their first varsity win, finished the 2.3-mile course second behind Brooklyn's Cedric Stennis, who had a time of 13:26.

Baseball Cougars to play alumni

The 1973 baseball practice drills at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are under way and will conclude Friday, Oct. 12, Cougar Coach Roy E. Lee has announced.

On Sunday, Oct. 7, the annual alumni-varsity game will be played, featuring a number of professional players who played their undergraduate baseball at SIUE.

These include John "Champ" Summers of Granite City, who starred on the Cougars' 1971 team and played last season with the Tucson Toros of the Triple AAA Pacific Coast League. His .333 batting average for the season was the fifth best in the league.

Two other pros expected to play are Bruce Thompson, pitcher from Granite City, and Ron Rohlfing, outfielder-catcher from Valmeyer. Both are members of the St. Louis Cardinals farm system.

Thompson was the ace relief hurler for the Red Birds' Arkansas Double AA club at the ball into the net from the right corner.

Fall schedule at the Hall of Fame

The Sports Hall of Fame in Busch Memorial Stadium has announced its operating schedule for the 1973 fall season. Effective this week, the sports museum will be open to visitors from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays.

Stadium tours will be available Tuesdays through Sundays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. except during Big Red home games or football practice sessions. Both the Hall of Fame and stadium tours will be closed to the public on Mondays.

In addition to the regular schedule, the Hall of Fame will be open for the convenience of Cardinal football fans during all Big Red home games. The museum is featuring a 30-minute color sound film showing highlights of football Cardinal games in the 1972 season.

The Sports Hall of Fame, which is located between gates 5 and 6 at Busch Stadium, showed an increase in attendance over last year of 18.5 per cent during the 1973 baseball season, according to Bing Devore, president of the museum's board of directors.

The Hall of Fame features displays on hockey, soccer, golf, tennis and bowling in addition to football and an extensive collection of trophies, mementos and movies portraying the history of the Cardinals and St. Louis baseball.

The AstroTurf Room allows visitors to walk on a miniature football field covered in the same turf installed on Busch Stadium's playing field.

Admission charges for the Hall of Fame or stadium tour are $1.25 for adults and 60 cents for children under 16. A combination ticket offers visitors both attractions at $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Triad over North in cross-country

The junior varsity runners of GCHS North defeated Triad (St. Jacob) 25-30 Tuesday on the 2.7-mile course at Triad but the varsity harriers failed in their efforts to match the win and lost 15-45.

Robin Tetlow finished first with a time of 16:23 to lead the JV team to victory but Triad swept the first five places in 15:22 to capture the varsity meet.

Coach Pete Robinson, noting a 1-4 record in dual competition, said, "Our boys are improving each time, but we are hurting a little due to the absence of Phil Shands, who is out with a sore leg."

Steeler runner Mark Becherer completed the varsity run 6th with a time of 15:42 and Karl Ehrlich and Dave Futch claimed the 7th and 9th positions.

Terry sharp in harrier meet

Harriers of Granite City High School North and South competed against more than 150 runners in the Hazelwood invitational cross-country meet Saturday in Missouri with Steve Terry finishing the 2.1-mile course 27th with a time of 11:07 and North's Karl Ehrlich 101st.

Lindberg High of Missouri was the overall winner of the 22 schools competing.

GCHS North finished 20th on the varsity level and 14th on the sophomore level, in which Steve Futch crossed the line 44th.

1-0 soccer win

A top (No. 2) position in the national rankings makes a team a target of every school on its schedule.

The No. 2 SIUE soccer team Saturday felt that pressure applied to it by a highly skilled Rockhurst College team of Kansas City, Mo., and the Cougars had to hold on to eke out a 1-0 victory at Cougar Field before a sun-drenched season opening crowd of 2,000-plus fans.

Alton tops South

Harriers of GCHS South were lost 19-42 Tuesday at Alton as Casey Reinking completed the three-mile cross-country course in 15:55.

Dwayne Terry continued as South's top runner, placing second in 16:06.

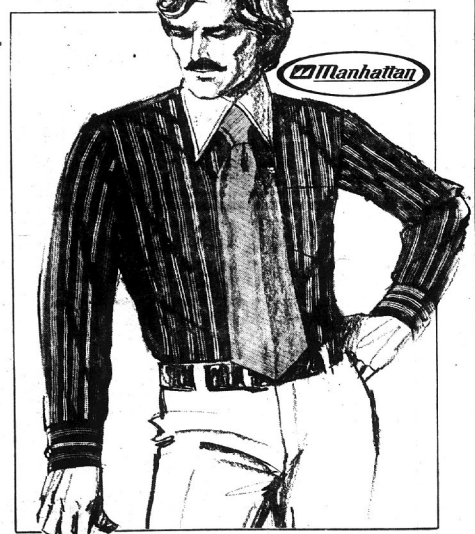

Other Warrior harriers included Jim Hall 7th, 17:06; Sam Nesbitt 10th, 17:41; Don Meagher 11th, 17:49; Jim Caschetta 12th, 18:01; and Frank Holmes 13th, 18:12.

New triumphs by soccer Steelers

The soccer Steelers of GCHS-North topped their record to 11-1 this week with back-to-back victories, defeating St. Paul 2-0 Tuesday at Highland and downing Gibault 4-0 yesterday at Waterloo.

North scored both goals against St. Paul in the second half of play.

Harvey Bruchner talked on a straight-in pass penalty kick, Dave Wolf, on a cross from Mike Demaree, shot one low into the corner of the net from 10 yards out.

Mike Demaree yesterday

headed the ball past the backfield to Wolf, who scored.

A crossfield pass from Wolf to Dan Sedey ended in the net for another Steeler point.

Roberson had stolen the ball from a Gibault player, dribbled across the field, spun suddenly and powered it in from 18 yards out.

Braves topple Webster, 28-12

Quarterback Mike Forshaw, with three seconds left in the game, ran around right end from the five-yard line for a touchdown. Tim Kirksey kicked the extra point as the Cougars Junior High Braves defeated Webster at Collinsville yesterday, 28-12.

The Braves scored quickly in the first quarter on a Chris Brandt three-yard run into the end zone after the defensive unit recovered a Webster fumble.

Coolidge led 14-0 on a Darrell Hasty 13-yard off-tackle run. Kirksey kicked both extra points.

Webster scored twice in the second quarter, one of the TDs a 40-yard left end sweep.

With the score 14-12 going into the third quarter, Brandt, Hasty and Robert Roney opened a path to the end zone for Bruce Wright, making a 50-yard run. Kirksey again kicked the extra point.

Electronic aids make 'fish stories' come true

Much has been written and said about fish locators or flashers and structure fishing during the last few months, but many anglers have yet to become acquainted with the new fishing styles.

It's no secret that the use of electronic equipment aids in catching fish and the new methods also prove that fishing is more than just plain luck.

The angler, when he decides to use electric equipment, often encounters a problem in selecting a fishing locator. These instruments range in price from $40-200, no small investment, and it is extremely important for the angler to select the type suited for him.

Electronic fishing is not a magic means of sending enticing, alluring sound waves and signals to the fish and leading them to the angler's lure. It is the scientific application of sonar principles in locating fish.

This type of aid will save time and improve the angler's chances of success.

An electronic fish locator-depth sounder will show the fisherman how deep the water is, give him a good idea of the makeup of the lake's bottom and show the presence of any object between the boat and the water's bottom.

The unit also helps the angler find the exact location and depth of underwater drop-offs, slopes and submerged ditches.

Initially, the angler uses the unit to find fish, but as he becomes more familiar with it he begins to use the unit to find fish structure, the underwater configurations which offer natural protection and comfort for fish.

Fish are basically creatures of habit. They are cold-blooded, like the water at a certain temperature and because they have no eyelids and the irises of their eyes do not contract they don't like sunlight.

Many varieties of fish locators are available, including the well-known Lowrance, Jefferson and Garcia brands.

Many seasoned anglers rate a fish locator-depth sounder as among their most important equipment.

Fish locators are compact, usually consisting of a flashing neon light indicator, a transducer and the appropriate cables.

The transducer is the unit's transmitter and receiver. It sends or transmits sound waves into the water in a beam-shaped pattern which widens as it moves toward the bottom.

When the sound wave hits an object, it reflects back to the transducer, which converts it into an electrical impulse and sends it to the indicator dial, which is marked off in feet.

While the transducer is transmitting sound waves, a high-powered motor is driving a high intensity flashing neon light at constant speed. The light is programmed to flash whenever the beam strikes an object.

Electronic fishing aids come in four basic types. These include the flasher, chart recorder, thermometers and combination units.

Flasher units are available in both portable and permanent mount models. The flasher recorder is generally used in deep sea fishing and commercial fishing, because it keeps a permanent record of the bottom topography of a body of water.

The graph will show underwater obstacles, growth and even fish. The graph becomes an even more valuable reference when the angler learns structure fishing techniques.

Fishing thermometers are very useful, because species of fish prefer certain water temperatures. For example, bass generally prefer water temperatures of 64-72 degrees.

The thermometers are the least expensive type of electronic aid. They include a temperature probe which is lowered into the water and the probe wire is usually calibrated so the fisherman knows how deep the probe is.

For anglers interested in using electronic aids, most manufacturers supply booklets which explain how the various types of instruments are used. And, most local sporting goods dealers will be willing to demonstrate just how simple it is to use this equipment.

SALT PROPOSAL
Chief U.S. negotiator Gerald C. Smith presented a U.S. proposal on arms limitation to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Vienna on July 24, 1970.

Greater variety can be introduced by including the two hues on either side of the complement.

Color schemes can be pleasing or not pleasing depending on whether the colors are chosen in value and intensity. Remember that a close range of values will produce effects that are more harmonious than strong contrasts in value and intensity.

Enjoy yourself by experimenting with your wardrobe and home in changing some color schemes to see if you like others better.

Colors express feelings

This would be a very wild world if it weren't for color. We use color in our clothes and our home to express our personalities and feelings.

Neutral color schemes can be beautiful if you want to accessorize an outfit or add variety and interest to your home. You might want to try one of the color schemes described below.

Related color schemes are combinations of colors that are related or in other words have something in common. A monochromatic color scheme consists of one color. It is varied in value (dark and light) and in intensity (brightness and dullness). Neutral colors are also used for variety. This type of color scheme is usually used for clothing. An example would be pale green, gray green, and forest green; or beige, apricot, and brown.

Neutral colors may be used with any color scheme. These include all shades and tints of black or white.

Another related color scheme is analogous. In this one, similar colors are used. Three colors with one hue in common is used to create the effect. An example might be green, yellow, and orange used in combination of varying values and intensities. The common hue would be yellow because green is made by mixing blue and yellow, and orange is made by mixing red and yellow.

Contrasting or complementary color schemes are difficult to use properly. If used improperly, they are said to "clash."

An example of a complementary color scheme might include colors of blue and orange, red and green, yellow and purple, or various intermediate colors.

Greater variety can be introduced by including the two hues on either side of the complement.

Patio stains can be cleaned

Q. I would like to know the best way to clean stains from a flagstone patio. Also is there any way to seal it to prevent staining in the future?

A. Most patio stains are caused by a built-in sea barbeque and a dog. Soap and water is not enough. Thank you for your help.

Mrs. C.M. Chasin Vista.

A. There are good masonry and stone cleaners on the market, available at masonry supply dealers and paint or hardware stores. A mixture of one-half cup household detergent and one-half cup trisodium phosphate dissolved in one gallon of water is a good solution. Scrub with a stiff brush and rinse well. After cleaning, the application of a terrazzo type sealer will make it much easier to keep the surface clean.

plementary color. For example: blue-green used with orange and red-violet. This type of color scheme is called split complementary.

A double complementary color combination uses two adjacent hues with their respective complements. An example would be yellow, orange, blue and blue-violet.

Triad color schemes allow for greatest variety. It uses three colors equidistant apart on the color wheel. For example: red-violet, blue-green, and yellow.

Color schemes can be pleasing or not pleasing depending on whether the colors are chosen in value and intensity. Remember that a close range of values will produce effects that are more harmonious than strong contrasts in value and intensity.

Enjoy yourself by experimenting with your wardrobe and home in changing some color schemes to see if you like others better.

Coal burning issue in state

Coal is becoming a hot issue in Illinois. The rapidly developing fight between energy people and strict environmental-protectionists will probably attract national attention and could set precedents that could influence future federal policies.

Within Illinois itself the stakes are enormous. A liberal position on pollution controls could spark a rapid revitalization of the once giant Illinois coal industry. Adherence to a strict policy could not only choke off a hoped-for coal revival, but could lead to major energy and heating crises in Chicago and many Downstate cities as well, officials say.

Basically, the issue is whether there is to be virtually unlimited use of high-sulphur coal, which exists in Illinois, especially the Southern portion, in abundance.

The legislature in its recent session sided with the coal industry, especially the Southern portion, in abundance.

In explaining his vote, Walker contended that the Hart bill, if signed into law, would be in violation of federal anti-pollution requirements and could jeopardize $1.7 million in energy needs over reduced pollution.

The General Assembly enacted by bipartisan vote a bill that would have postponed indefinitely all state regulations on pollution resulting from burning of high sulphur coal. But Gov. Walker adopted a middle stance in his amendment veto of the bill. Under Walker's changes, the use of high-sulphur coal will be permitted but subject to various restrictions designed to limit pollution.

Still to be determined are the practical effects of adhering to standards on coal use set by state and federal pollution agencies. The original bill, sponsored by Rep. Richard O. Hart, D-Benton, would have resolved this issue by simply scrapping all state regulations.

In explaining his vote, Walker contended that the Hart bill, if signed into law, would be in violation of federal anti-pollution requirements and could jeopardize $1.7 million in energy needs over reduced pollution.

Supporters of increased coal use also argue that Illinois cannot afford to await promising technical developments for "purifying" low-sulphur coal before resuming its wide-spread use.

The issue is certain to be a major one in the October legislative session. Legislators are cool to any governor's use of the new mandatory veto authority to rewrite legislation, and there is a strong possibility that Walker will be overridden on the coal issue.

Leaf burning okay now

Granite Cityans will be permitted to burn leaves this fall—as long as they don't burn them on asphalt streets or in the gutters.

The right to burn leaves results from a new Illinois Pollution Control law which revokes a previous ban against burning leaves in all parts of the state. Only residents of cities which had passed prohibitory ordinances still would be affected by such a ban unless the ordinances were repealed.

Granite City council members were told by Mayor Paul Schuler Monday night that the city's present ordinance prohibits leaf burning only on asphalt streets or in gutters, which could damage the streets or curbs.

The council decided to let that ordinance stand and thus permit leaf burning under the new Illinois law in places not restricted by the existing ordinance.

The new state law also will permit leaf burning in Madison and Venice, neither of which have enacted an ordinance prohibiting the burning of leaves.

The council Monday night also enacted an ordinance prohibiting the showing of X-rated movies in Granite City. The law provides specifically that no "person, firm or corporation," may present a X-rated movie in the city, and provides a fine of $25 to $500 as a penalty for each violation.

An ordinance restricting speed of vehicles to 20 miles per hour on Yale Drive from Fehling Road to its terminal point, and on Bradley Avenue from Fehling Road to Princeton Drive, also was enacted.

In other action, the council approved a bill of $14,641 for Milam Corp. East in payment of additional sanitation collections under the city's garbage contract.

tract which permits for revision of payments during six-month periods.

Approved a request by Alderman Emerald Daves that an ordinance be prepared that would require drive-in restaurants to close at midnight.

Referred to City Attorney George F. Fox for his opinion on additional payment on the Johnson Road Improvement project.

Authorized a call for bids to furnish the city with fuel oil during the winter heating season.

Received a summons for a court appearance on Oct. 12 in a small claims claim filed by Robert Harris, doing business as the Robert Harris Co. for $242 due for clothing items purchased by Granite City firemen out of a firemen's fund that has been transferred to the Fire Pension Fund.

Open education goal is excitement in learning

By DR. JAMES COMER
(Dr. James Comer is associate professor of elementary education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He is currently writing a book on open education.)

The American public and its educational leaders are enthusiastically adopting an educational idea and then proceeding to do all manner of silly things with what started out to be a good idea.

Open education, sometimes called informal education, is a good idea and is long overdue in educational practice. However, it appears to be headed for the same excesses that caused the public and educators to condemn progressive education just prior to World War II.

Open education is a term used to describe a method of educating children based on taking advantage of the natural way children learn, their inborn curiosity, their high energy level, and their individual rate of learning.

Open education can be contrasted to traditional schooling, which is an adult-selected body of knowledge, generally found in a textbook series or a curriculum guide, transmitted to children through a teacher.

Open education, on the other hand, is the result of advances in educational knowledge about how children learn, the advent of television, and changes in the child-rearing practices of the American home.

When children go off to school for the first day in kindergarten, they already know a great deal. They have a huge vocabulary; there are a large number of objects they can identify by name (trees, rocks, cars, houses, etc.). They have learned that if they touch something hot they will get burned, that some things taste good and others not so good, and much, much more—all without the benefit of formal education.

Television has helped send children to school information-rich and possibly experience-poor.

Such programs as "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" are designed to both entertain and instruct children. But in the process of watching, the group experience they have is watching, not doing.

Parents in general are not as strict with their children as once was the case. They are more inclined to permit children greater social and physical freedom than was done in earlier generations.

These factors plus, undoubtedly, others, permit children to learn a great deal before they go to school.

One children get to school, however, three errors are committed.

First, teachers practice education as though the only good information is what the teacher knows, or is in the textbooks or the curriculum guide.

Second, pupils are taught that if they are to learn the teacher must teach it.

Third, that once pupils have been taught, they have learned.

None of these is necessarily true, and the public and educators have begun to recognize this fact.

Education as it has traditionally been practiced has created the problem of boredom and indifference in children.

In addition, its emphasis on competition has created considerable anxiety on the part of children.

For example: Does Columbus really need to sail three times in the imagination of a child? The first time the child learns about Columbus discovering America may be an exciting experience, but by the third time it is about as exciting as leaving leftovers.

Open education is difficult to define; it may well be that the open school is more spiritual than physical.

One thing is certain: Open education does not necessarily mean open space; learning in a building without walls may still be closed for children by petrified psychological walls set

RECOVER MOTORCYCLES
Two motorcycles stolen at different locations between 6:55 a.m. and 7:10 a.m. today were recovered by police. The motorcycles were the property of Leonard Thompson, 1820 Steen St., Madison, and John Rozycki, 1701 Elizabeth St., Madison.

RECOVER AUTO

The car of Louis Sellers, 3215 Maryville Road, Apartment 4, was recovered before 7:30 a.m. Wednesday from his home, was recovered later behind Parkview School.

up by the teacher—formal routines, rigid schedules, and a pre-determined and invariant curriculum.

Instead, open education provides children with opportunities for inventive activity with what interests them at their own level of development, where the teacher's role is that of a senior partner in the learning endeavor.

Where it exists, teachers trust children; they give them great freedom of intellectual choice, permit great flexibility in the curriculum, and emphasize individual responsibility on the part of children for their own learning.

However, and here's the rub, in accomplishing these things teachers and schools may abandon the very practices of traditional education that have been successful.

Open education does mean giving children GREATER freedom of choice in what they study; it does not mean giving them COMPLETE freedom of choice.

One fact that children may be free to choose to study insects, for example, does not mean they may study the subject in a slipshod manner; they must exercise the same standards of scholarship they would be expected to attain if the teacher had chosen the subject.

Education can be made more pleasurable for children.

Schools can be places where children are excited about learning—where they are valued as people and not as objects to be taught—and open education practices can help achieve this goal.

However, in overcoming the defects of traditional education—boredom, regimentation and conformity to middle class values—care must be taken that another kind of conformity—one that emphasizes motion, activity, and educational experiences that only seem interesting—does not result in failures of another sort.

Precious gems topic at Madison Rotary

Diamonds are a Rotarian's best friend; at least that was the case at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Madison Rotary club in the Madison Recreation Center.

Jack H. Butterfield, a jeweler of Collinsville, discussed precious gems with the club. Several precious, semi-precious and almost worthless gems were passed among the Rotarians to see if they could tell the difference.

When none of the Rotarians could determine the value of a stone, the question was asked "How would you know the real value of a stone should you want to purchase one?"

Butterfield replied, "Find a jeweler you can trust and deal with. He should be able to tell the true value of stones."

"Granite City Rotarians attending the Madison meeting were Joseph P. Hassler, president of the Granite City Rotary Club, James Davidson and Thomas Thebeau.

Agnew request for inquiry backed by some Illinois congressmen

Washington—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's request for a House inquiry got support among Illinois Republicans even as House Speaker Carl Albert declared he would have no part of it.

Agnew took Capitol Hill by surprise when he appeared personally in Albert's office to present his written request for a full House investigation of allegations that he took bribes as a state and local official in Maryland.

"This request is made in the dual interests of preserving the Constitutional stature of my office and accomplishing my personal vindication," Agnew wrote Albert.

But after pondering it overnight and discussing it with other Democratic leaders, Albert said Agnew's letter relates to matters before the courts and, in view of that, "I as speaker will not take any action on the letter at this time."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 12 Thurs., Oct. 4, 1973

Illinois Republicans were not ready to let the matter rest with Albert.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-30th Dist., in a floor statement, called for appointment of a select committee to recommend whether the House should begin impeachment proceedings against Agnew.

Findley said the nation cannot afford the protracted "uncertainty" of indictment, trial and appeal "surrounding the man who is only a heartbeat away from the Presidency."

What if President Nixon should meet an untimely death? "Could the vice president assume the incredibly heavy burden of the Presidency in the midst of his own criminal trial?" Findley asked. "We are faced with the absurd possibility that the vice president might be called to administer the nation from his jail cell as he awaits an appeals court decision.

Findley said the House owes it to the nation to impeach Agnew if he is guilty or to remove the cloud hanging over him and enable him to do his job.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-14th Dist., saw a possible split in thinking among Senate and House Democrats, an observation borne out later by Albert's announced hands-off position.

"My observation is that Senate Democrats in the face of requests that they stop their Watergate hearings have contended that the legislative hearings are more important than the judicial process," Erlenborn said.

"It would be unusual," he added, "if the House Democrats would take a different approach on Agnew's request. It would be inconsistent." Erlenborn said circumstances have "probably forced the vice president to do this—the House route as the quick exonerated."

The House inquiry would provide an opportunity for his case to be heard and would counter press accounts in which "Mr. Agnew has already been tried and convicted," Erlenborn said.

Minority Whip Leslie C. Arends of Melvin was at the House leadership meeting when Mr. Agnew made his request. "It was a somber occasion," said the Illinois congressman. "There has been nothing like it in the lifetime of any of us around here."

"Apparently the vice president felt his best opportunity of getting all the facts before the public was by hearings held by select committees of the house," Arends said, adding: "I think Congress should consider the matter."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., had lunch with Agnew when a dozen or so moderate Republican senators held their weekly gathering on the Hill. This group, hosted by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, learned from Agnew that President Nixon did not ask him to resign. Agnew vowed to fight his battle and not to resign.

The vice president was disappointed in Albert's tabling of his request. Percy did not comment on the vice president's request to the House for an inquiry, but the senator did insist that "the vice president, like all citizens, is innocent until proven otherwise beyond a reasonable doubt."

Percy deplored leaks and rumors and said grand jury proceedings "should be conducted in the utmost secrecy" to prevent further abuses of the vice president's rights.

Rep. George M. O'Brien of Joliet, R-17th Dist., who was back in his district, said Agnew had faced his problem with characteristic vigor and courage.

EUGENE ARNOLD

Brothers head senior and junior classes at Venice

Class elections at Venice High School have resulted in the Arnold brothers—Eugene and Jarrell—being elected as presidents of the senior and junior classes, respectively. This is believed to be the only time in school history that one family has dominated the presidential spots.

In addition to Eugene, the seniors elected Bob Schodroski as vice-president, Sharon Mosby as secretary, and Ken Rankin as treasurer.

Also elected from the junior class were Darnell Williams as vice-president, Sandra Sanders as secretary, and Mary Beth Scaturro as treasurer.

EPA reminds GC of order to install chlorination

Granite City will take no action to install chlorination facilities at its primary sewage treatment plant despite a written reminder from Environmental Protection Agency authorities that construction and operation of such facilities were required by EPA order. The City Council decided in its regular meeting Monday night.

The city, in planning construction of the new secondary sewage treatment plant, has refused to comply with the requirement because it would cost the city approximately $40,000 to install chlorination facilities which would be used only during the period of construction of the new plant.

In a letter from James B. Coyne, supervisor of the Mississippi Direct Sub-Unit Surveillance Section of the EPA, the council was told Monday night that an EPA engineer's survey of the primary treatment plant last month showed that "final effluent from your facility (the primary plant) was not being disinfected."

The latter added that a permit was issued to the city last May "to construct and operate interim Chlorination facilities," but that "no action has been taken that time to construct the facilities and comply with the regulations."

Boyd said also that "The City Council decided in its regular meeting Monday night to ignore the EPA order, and it is up to you as to whether we should take this risk."

"However, it is a risk to ignore the EPA order, and it is up to you as to whether we should take this risk," Alderman Frank Greenwald, noting that the city is subject to fines for non-compliance with EPA regulations, remarked that "if they (the EPA) should enforce this regulation (for primary plant chlorination), it could be possible the fines would amount to more than the $40,000 cost for chlorination."

Record of probations, dismissals criticized

A special committee of the Southern Illinois Police Chiefs' Association is expected to meet soon with circuit court officials in an effort to determine the cause of the large number of probations granted in the handling of cases sent into the courts by police officers, and what police authorities describe as a "discouraging" number of removals and dismissals from the criminal docket.

Statistics of results in cases handled in the Madison County Circuit Court were discussed in a meeting of the Association by Ralph Brawley, chief of Police at Venice and one of the most outspoken critics of the number of sentences meted out in felony cases.

Brawley said the police chiefs' association has been awaiting action by a citizens committee that was scheduled to look into the matter, but that no such action has developed. Approximately 20 members of the chiefs association attending the session considered plans to name a committee to meet with the chief circuit judge concerning the problem.

Of 16 felony cases from all parts of Madison County that were handled by the circuit court during August—normally a light court month—only one resulted in a penalty. That was a $10 fine.

According to statistics reported by Brawley, six of the cases were removed or dismissed from the docket, while defendants in eight other cases were placed on probation. The $10 fine was assessed on a plea of guilty in a case in which the defendant originally wanted a continuance of trial.

According to Brawley's statistics, the dismissals and probations allowed during August brought to 101 the number of such dispositions in a total of 137 felony cases docketed in the courts during the four-month period of May, June, July and August.

Of the total of 137 cases, 35 were removed or dismissed from the docket, while defendants in 65 cases were placed on probation. The 101 probation and removal orders represent 73.7 per cent of all cases docketed during the four-month period, Brawley's reports show.

In cases removed or dismissed during August, the report shows, the charges involved one each of attempted murder, armed robbery, burglary, arson, possession of a controlled substance and aggravated battery.

Probationary periods were granted in cases involving charges of robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, possession of cannabis and theft. During July, the records show, 24 felony cases were handled in circuit court, resulting in five cases removed or dismissed and 24 defendants given probation ranging from one to five years. Two of those sentenced were found guilty by the court. In one of these cases, involving a charge of attempted theft, the defendant was given a $200 fine in addition to one year's probation.

Charges in cases which were removed or dismissed involved charges of possession of cannabis, burglary, attempted burglary and indecent liberties. Of 29 felony cases disposed of in the courts during June, statistics show, ten cases were removed or dismissed, while probation was granted to defendants in 15 others. Fines were assessed in two of the probation cases.

Of the 14 cases in which sentences were given, one involved a prison term of one to three years at Menard Penitentiary. All of the others were referred to the Illinois Department of Corrections. Thirteen cases removed or dismissed involved charges of one each of possession of a controlled substance, armed robbery, attempted theft, burglary and aggravated battery; three of theft, and two of attempted armed robbery.

During May, according to Brawley's records, the courts handled 48 felony cases in which there were 15 removals and dismissals and 19 persons granted probation. Thirteen defendants were sentenced, while one was placed on probation but also sentenced to serve 24 weekends in the county jail.

Length of stay in hospitals declines

For the second straight year the average patient length of stay in Illinois' 220 community hospitals has shown a slight decrease over the previous year, indicating a continued effort by hospital management for greater utilization control, John W. Rice, president of the Illinois Hospital Association, said this week.

Rice, administrator of Richard Memorial Hospital in Olney, Ill., said the average length of stay in Illinois hospitals was 8.8 days in 1972, compared to 8.8 days in 1971 and 9.1 days in 1970.

"The 3 reduction in length of stay that we've seen in the last couple of years is a significant figure," Rice said. "It reflects greater cooperation on the part of physicians, hospital administration, consumers, and third-party payers for increased utilization control and, consequently, better use of health care dollars."

Rice reported the data from the American Hospital Association's annual survey of the nation's 7,061 registered hospitals. The full survey, Hospital Statistics, is published each August with complete data from the previous year.

The report also showed a slight drop in the rate of increase in the average hospital expense per patient day in Illinois. The average cost per patient day in 1972 was $110, a 15.7 per cent increase over 1971. In 1971 the average was $95.05, a 15 per cent increase over 1970. In 1970 the average was $81.60, a 15 per cent increase over the previous year.

The AHA report showed the national average for length of stay in 1972 to be 7.9 days and the national average expense per patient to be $105.

Total expenses for Illinois community hospitals reached $1.6 billion, compared to $1.4 billion in 1971. As in previous years, the majority of this amount was paid out in wages. Last year the total wages paid came to $653 million, a 10.6 per cent increase over the $593 million paid in 1971.

"The increase in hospital costs in recent years has been due largely to a significant increase in hospital wages. There has been a concerted effort by the health care industry to make wages more competitive. Close to 60-70 per cent of a hospital's total expenses go for payroll, so any increase here makes a definite mark in the total cost picture," Rice said.

The 1972 statistics also show a higher ratio in the number of employees to patients. Last year the community hospitals across the state employed a total of 123,538 persons, or 308 employees for every 100 patients. They now compare to 302 employees per 100 patients in 1971.

"The increase in the ratio of employees to patients is indicative of the sophisticated care that Illinois hospitals are able to provide. Institutions are now equipped with highly specialized and technical equipment, and an increasingly large number of employees are trained with special skills. This also adds to the higher cost of modern day medicine," Rice added.

The Illinois Hospital Association is a nonprofit, voluntary organization of institutional health care providers from across Illinois. Current membership includes planning agencies, allied health professional organizations, and over 300 hospitals.

IHA represents its member constituency in the state legislature and, in coordination with the American Hospital Association, on issues before Congress. The association is headquartered in Chicago.

Reserve training increases

Enrollment in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is up by 30 per cent over last year, according to Lt. Col. James F. Eberwine, commanding officer of the SIUE unit.

The group has an enrollment of 103 for the fall quarter, compared with 78 in 1972. The figures include enrollments at McKendree College at Lebanon and Belleville Junior College. This year, McKendree has 12 and Belleville 7.

Col. Eberwine explained that military classes for freshmen and sophomores in the program from McKendree and Belleville are taught at Scott Air Force Base. All upperclassmen come to SIUE three times weekly for classes.

SIUE have been showing increases each year since the program was started in 1965. Col. Eberwine, who is beginning his fourth year as commanding officer, credits a continuing recruitment effort for the increases.

He said the students who are enrolled have encouraged others to apply, and the administrative officers discussed the program with senior counselors in 38 area high schools this year.

Col. Eberwine said the increases are consistent with a national trend, marking an end to the decline in ROTC enrollments over the past five years. He quoted Air Force Col. Gerald Persley, who oversees ROTC affairs for the Defense Department.

"The campus environment is quiet, and ROTC now seems to be accepted as part of the scene," Col. Eberwine believes the improving pay scale and job security offered by the military service are major factors in the increasing enrollments. Scholarships are another attraction.

The Air Force offers 6,500 scholarships annually, and 11 have been awarded to SIUE students. The value of a stipend at SIUE is between $1,500 and $1,600 per year, but it ranges upward to $2,500 for a McKendree student because of differences in tuitions and fees. Nonscholarship students who receive $100 a month during their last two years. When commissioned, these new officers must serve four to six years of active duty, depending on flight training.

Once a man's domain, the AFROTC is attracting more women. Prior to 1969, none of the services accepted coeds. The Air Force was the first military branch to open its ROTC ranks to women, and Col. Eberwine said the national goal is to commission 200 women officers a year through ROTC by 1978. There were 1,627 coeds on the cadet rolls at 184 colleges last year.

This year, SIUE has four young women enrolled in AFROTC as lower classmen and two in the advanced corps, including one from McKendree. Col. Eberwine said the recruiting effort also has been directed toward the minorities, and the SIUE unit now has more than 10 per cent minority enrollment.

State acts to retain top national harness race

Gov. Dan Walker said during the weekend that horse owners and harness racing associations have agreed to raise a trust fund of at least $75,000 a year to help keep the Hambletonian trotting race in Illinois.

Details of the fund were worked out by the Illinois Racing Board.

In addition, prospects are bright that a national television network will cover the classic race live next year, Walker said. To facilitate coverage, the race next year will be held on Saturday at the DuQuoin State Fair.

Gov. Walker announced these first steps in a letter to the 21 directors of the Hambletonian Society in which he pledged "determination to do whatever we can to keep the Hambletonian classic at the DuQuoin State Fair."

The Hambletonian is the top harness race in the nation. The classic running is known as the "Kentucky Derby of Harness Racing."

The directors have been contemplating moving the race to another part of the U.S. unless Illinois provides the incentive of guaranteed purses.

Before moving to Illinois in 1957, the Hambletonian had been run at Goshen, N. Y. The arrangement was announced by agreement of the Illinois Racing Board, the ten harness racing associations in Illinois, and the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association, Inc.

It provides that the racing associations and the horsemen's association will turn over to a trust fund one-third of the net proceeds of one extra race each Saturday.

The trust will guarantee $75,000 for the Hambletonian purse each year beginning in 1975. That contribution will be combined with a $50,000 annual contribution of the DuQuoin State Fair to make a $125,000 purse.

The groups include the Southern Illinois Trotting Association at Fairmount Park, Collinsville, and the Mississippi Valley Trotting Association at Cahokia Downs Race Track, East St. Louis.

Patrons aid postal service

The U.S. Postal Service depends heavily on customer participation to help meet its service standards," the postmasters of the Quad-Cities said today.

"Public cooperation in two areas is vitally important," they said. To qualify for service standard handling, mail addresses must contain the zip code. First class items for overnight delivery must be deposited in designated mail collection boxes for 5 p.m. collections or by 8 p.m. at the main Granite City processing plant.

The postal service has made detailed commitments to the American people on dependability and timeliness of mail service under service standards which specify levels of service the public can expect for air mail and first class mail.

"Their use within the postal family is important too," according to Postmaster Charles Simmons of Venice and William Clinton of Madison, and Herbert Backs, officer in charge at Granite City.

"Service standards measure success or failure. They promote cooperation and teamwork by all postal workers—those who operate the vast postal transportation network," they said.

For air mail, the postal service commitment is to deliver 95 per cent by the next day between specified cities within a radius of 600 miles, such as Chicago and Cleveland. This overnight delivery recently was extended to selected cities beyond 600 miles.

At least 95 per cent of all air mail will be delivered by the second day anywhere in the Continental United States. "First class standards are no less demanding," they said. "Next-day delivery to local service areas are made for at least 95 per cent of the mail," the officials said.

"This standard now is being expanded to provide for second day delivery to points within a 600-mile radius at least 95 per cent of the time, and third-day delivery is to be made to any community within the Continental United States at least 95 per cent of the time."

"Equally demanding service standards now are being developed and tested for parcel post and other classes of mail," they said.

The University Center Board at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a cultural week with emphasis on the fine arts Oct. 8-12 in the University Center.

Jan Strout, assistant program director for the Center Board, said the talents of faculty and students within the university will be utilized to give the university community and the public broader outlook in fine arts.

The events will begin at noon Monday, Oct. 8, with theatre improvisations in the Governor's Lounge of the University Center, provided by the SIUE theatre department.

At 7 p.m. that Monday, a formal reception will be held in the Goshen Lounge, sponsored by the faculty of the department of art and design. An exhibition and discussion will be provided by Arthur Sandoval, an art instructor.

Tuesday's activities next week will include a pottery demonstration from 10 a.m. until noon in the Governor's Lounge, and a

At 8 p.m. that day in the Meridian Ballroom, a mime group from Champaign, Ill., called the United Mime Workers will present its own style of mime. The members' repertoire consists of mime pieces in a traditional style, interpreting a wide range of the tragic and comic aspects of life.

From 11 a.m. until noon on Thursday, Oct. 11, a mime workshop will be held in the Governor's Lounge, and from 1 to 3 p.m. art students will be drawing caricatures in the University Center. At 7:30 p.m., coffee will be provided in the University Club on the second floor of the Center, along with a presentation by Lorenzo Buford and Co., SIUE theatre students.

Admission to the coffee and theatre presentation will be 50 cents.

The cultural week will end Friday, Oct. 12, with a dixieland band concert in the snack bar in the lower level of the Center, beginning at 11:30 a.m. The music will be provided by members of an SIUE music fraternity.

Leaves provide garden compost

By JAMES R. SHEARL
Agriculture Extension Adviser

Many home gardeners are interested in making use of leaves as compost for flower beds and garden fertilizer.

Compost is deteriorated vegetable matter which when mixed with the soil increases the soil tilth by making it loose and easy to work.

Compost can be made from leaves, straw, grass clippings, and any other disease-free vegetable matter.

To make compost, pile the plant material in layers as it accumulates. Add about one pound of a lime-fertilizer mixture to each 10 pounds of dry refuse. The mixture can be made from five pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer plus two pounds of fine limestone.

The fertilizer will hasten decay and improve fertility of the compost.

Spread soil over the compost pile to hold it in place.

Water the pile to keep it damp and occasionally turn and mix the soil and decaying material.

The compost will be ready to spread over the garden in six to 12 months, depending on how fast decaying occurs.

Roberta Flack's album a winner

It seems like years since Roberta Flack's last album came out, but this new LP from the super song stylist lives up to the highest of expectations, and has made her wait worthwhile. "Killing Me Softly" on Atlantic records showcases Roberta at her finest, and she is assisted by some of the finest musicians in New York City.

Included in this fine collection are "Suzanne," by Leonard Cohen; "Jesse," by Janis Ian, a rollicking, and of course, Roberta's recording of her enormous hit "Killing Me Softly With His Song."

Produced by Joel Dorn, the album features Roberta's own arrangements of all the tunes, and she is assisted by some of the finest musicians in New York City.

Another excellent album from Atlantic is "Herbie Mann - Turtle Bay." Mann is back in a contemporary groove, playing songs composed by such eminent musicians as Dicky Betts, Bonnie Bramlett, Sly Stone, Steve Wonder and Tony Joe White.

As always, Herbie proves was decorated in orange and ivory.

The guest of honor opened her gifts. Games were played and prizes were awarded. Miss Grbich will become the bride of Thomas Pitrowski II on Oct. 27.

A buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Georgia Galik and daughters, Elizabeth Novack, Anna Muick, Mary Vukelich, Ann Johnson, Mildred Sharp, Catherine Grbich, Frances Chaoi, Annabelle Aubrey, Lillian Mudro, Theresa Kasper, Donna Chaoi, Ann Klarich, Terri Klarich.

Helen Perhat, Helena Perhat, Ruth Novack, Ursula Krivick, Ursula Blaich, Katarina Klarich, Denise Ban, Catherine Obucina, Catherine Measki, Mary Jercinovich, Rose Kolafatic, Jean Marusic, Jean Caraway, Jean Martin, Emily Dreher.

Life, while he held it from 1879 to 1936, must have been a wonderful experience for Orlovino Respighi if one is to judge from the music he left behind. The word for Respighi is serenity. He is a poet in communion with nature. He paints the wind through the trees and the fountains in the squares in musical tones. Columbia Records has just released "The Respighi Album," which contains five great tone poems, including "Pines of Rome" and "The Fountains of Rome." If you can find a quiet place to retreat in this world of nerve-rattling noise pollution, try a little Respighi; he'll do more for you than a tranquilizer.

A strong case can be made for Vladimir Horowitz being the greatest pianist of the 20th Century, and it is probably certain that his records will become collectors' items in the years ahead. Horowitz plays Beethoven's "Moonlight" Sonata and Schubert's "Impromptu" in his latest release for Columbia Records. It is the performance, as usual, is masterful, and the recording technique is expert. The recording also offers an opportunity to compare the years ahead. Horowitz's passionate, thunderous music, with the delicate musical fabrics spun by Schubert.

again that he is the forefront of modern musicians, with his individual and fresh interpretations of these rock classics. Herbie's musical support, and it is first-rate - is provided by David Spinozza, Gene Biondo, Pat Rebillot and Jerry Jemmott, just to mention a few.

Turtle Bay is an enchanted enclave near the United Nations on the East River in New York and Mann gives you some idea of the enduring old charms of the bay in cuts like "In Memory of Elizabeth Reed," "Happier Than The Morning Sun," "Babaluka," "Love Song" and "Reverend Lee."

B.W. Stevenson says he's never done anything but hitchhike, write songs and sing, but in fact he's done much more than that. For one thing, he earned a rating as one of the top country-pop stars of today and his latest LP, "My Maria," shows why. Not only is the title track riding high on the charts but so is "Shambala." Stevenson's style seems to have moved closer to pop; however, his gentle voice and acoustic guitar show his roots are firmly embedded in the country sound.

Stevenson is the type of performer who grows on you and so does his album. Try these cuts and see if you don't agree: the title track, "Shambala," "Sunset Woman," "Grab On Hold of My Soul" and "Pass This Way." A sure winner for a gentle man.

Candy sale to aid blind

Members of the Madison Lions Club will join forces with more than 28,000 Illinois Lions Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13, in an all-out effort to set a record in the Illinois Lions' annual candy-day sales to aid the blind.

Madison Lions Walter Gavick and Matt Ozanich are co-chairmen of the event locally. Members of the Madison Police Department will take up collections in both Granite City and Madison and offer a "thank you" to all multi-flavored candies.

This year, the "Candy Man" movie song refrain will have special significance, as Illinois Lions work to meet a record-breaking $1 million goal. Last year, Lions from some 600 Illinois clubs raised a record $850,000.

During Candy Day's 20-year history, Illinois Lions clubs have raised and distributed $7,300,000 to agencies helping the blind and visually handicapped.

In addition to helping people locally, candy-day proceeds support five principal agencies working for the blind and visually handicapped. These include:

PUBLIC INVITED

Amendatory veto being used to rewrite laws

The amendatory veto power granted to Illinois governors under the 1970 constitution is causing concern among Illinois governmental students.

It has been estimated that Gov. Daniel Walker vetoed either totally or in part including changes in appropriation bills about 30 percent of the 1,061 bills sent to him by the General Assembly this year.

He used the amendatory veto or the reduction veto of appropriation on 60 to 65 bills. Former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie also used amendatory vetoes, slightly less often.

Probably one of the reasons Ogilvie was somewhat fearful in using the amendatory veto is the fact that the Illinois Supreme Court ruled that his action in changing the parochial school aid bill was unconstitutional.

The court held that in making his recommendation for changes in the legislation by using the amendatory veto, Ogilvie altered the language and intent of the legislation.

When the amendatory veto proposal was being discussed in the constitutional convention preceding the 1970 Illinois Constitution, delegates contended that the amendatory veto could be used by a governor to clean up the language of legislation. In other words, if an amendment to a bill was quickly drawn it could have a comma or a period out of place.

The veto also could be used if one section of a bill were not consistent with another; perhaps the figures did not add up, for example.

But when Ogilvie used the amendatory veto to recommend new sections in legislation, it did give a new twist to the amendatory veto. Walker has gone the same route.

The legislature still has a crack at the amendatory veto.

Salvation Army marks 50 years

Formal observance of the 50th anniversary of the Salvation Army's arrival in the Quad-City area will be held Tuesday at a dinner at the Venice Recreation Hall, 306 Broadway, Venice, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The event will mark the organization's golden anniversary which occurred during July. Tickets to the dinner will be $2 per person and reservations are to be made not later than Friday with the Salvation Army office, 451-7987.

Mrs. A. L. Metcalf, 678-6801; Mrs. Mary Batson, chairman, 452-4715; or Ralph Astorian, co-chairman, 451-9796.

To mark the occasion, Salvation Army officers released this week a review of the organization's activities and its objectives. The statement said:

"The Salvation Army; what is it? After 50 years of service in the Quad-City area, the question still is being raised."

Upon first impression one might think it a group of "do-gooders," but it is more than that, for a do-gooder has the connotation of one who is caught up in an idealistic situation, who works only while stirred and then returns to the everyday way of life and puts himself for the job well done (whether it was or not), but the Salvation Army is comprised of dedicated, professional, semi-professional, and lay individuals who pour their heart and soul into any tasks put before them.

"Some will perhaps recall the lassies who braved the warfare of World War I and were found in the front line trenches with fresh donuts and hot coffee. Still others might recall Captain Boozer in the 40's taking food and a word of cheer to those who were weary of waiting along the river in a brave attempt to hold back the flood waters."

"Still more recent would be the work done in connection with the flooding of Chateaus Island. It is activities such as these that are noticed by the public, but what happens in a normal day at the Salvation Army office?"

"Perhaps it would involve counseling with a girl pregnant out of wedlock, a teenager who has run away from home, a family in need of emergency food, clothing, or furniture."

"There also is a small recreation center housed in the basement of the Salvation Army building which is opened after school and evenings Monday through Friday."

"In addition, a Salvation Army officer also is an ordained minister and thus has duties of overseeing the spiritual life of his 'flock.' There are weekly meetings on Sunday morning and evening and a mid-week service on Thursday."

"Primarily, anniversaries have meaning only if they mark achievements which have had lasting benefit, the mere passage of time is not of great significance."

"They cause us to pause, to measure progress, and then provide an opportunity to look the future for any opportunities it might afford."

"The religion of Jesus Christ teaches that the greatest achievement to be realized is for us to love God and through that relationship learn to love our fellow man."

"This is the primary objective of our work; to recognize, or personal glory. Ours has been a pride and satisfaction that stems from commitment coupled with sacrifice and the highest level of professional training available to us."

"As we pause to recognize the efforts of the past we would acknowledge the selfless devotion and continued support of our many friends and supporters. Without the assistance of volunteers, local Salvationists, advisory board members, and those who share their time, talents, and treasure with us, the success of the past could never have been achieved."

"It is with a deep sense of gratitude and humility that we express our sincere appreciation to those who are literally the 'army' behind the Salvation Army."

"Many of our successes, indeed many of our failures as well, will never be fully known until the dawn of eternity, but it is to those with whom and for whom we have worked, and to those who have supported us with their faith and their fortunes, that we sincerely thank."

We pledge our continued commitment and dedication to the high and holy purpose of rendering service unto God and man!"

Still no assurance local wishes on junior college will prevail

A statement issued this week by Dr. Fred L. Wellman, executive secretary of the Illinois Junior College Board, outlines the outlook for the Quad-City area as he views it. His comments apparently leave the situation the same as presented in four articles published in Monday's issue of the Press-Record, the Junior College Study Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce reports.

A point that Dr. Wellman disputes is that he was prepared to recommend annexation of the Quad-Cities to the Lewis and Clark Community College District in September. However, the basis of the committee's belief that he was prepared to make such a recommendation is an earlier statement, written and signed by Dr. Wellman.

The new comment by the state official again avoids any assurance that the wishes of Quad-Cityans will prevail.

Dr. Wellman said he will recommend to the IJC Oct. 19 that it reject the local request for an election on whether to create a new junior college district known as Southwestern. He reiterated his feeling that this community should be annexed to the Lewis and Clark District at Godfrey.

Dr. Wellman said a preliminary discussion will be held at the Nov. 16 IJC meeting on assignment of the Quad-Cities, with a final recommendation to be submitted by the IJC staff at the December meeting.

He agreed to consider any local recommendations on resolutions received for possible annexation to Belleville Area College.

However, with the Southwestern petitions still pending, and due to the sequence of fall meetings, it does not appear that joint BAC and Granite City-Madison-Venice petitions could be submitted to the IJC prior assignment recommendation Nov. 16.

Text of the new Wellman statement follows:

In response to your request of September 19, 1973, the Illinois

Junior College Board deferred action on the petition for the formation of a new Southwestern junior college district including Granite City, Madison, and Venice, until the Oct. 19 meeting of the IJC at Rend Lake College near Ina, Ill.

It is my understanding that you plan to attend the Oct. 19 meeting to make a brief presentation related to the petition before the IJC takes action.

We have also received the resolutions from the Granite City and Madison Boards of Education supporting the referendum.

In addition, we have received copies of newspaper articles pertaining to recent actions on the petition. I am concerned because apparently we have not carefully communicated our staff position on this petition, and I would hope that the following information would be helpful committee members:

1. Some of the articles have indicated that we would foreclose any possibility of your area joining the Belleville Area College. That is not true and that possibility is one of four options we identified in our recommendation to the Board.
2. It is fair to say that we had felt that the best quality possibility might be annexing to Lewis and Clark Community College because you are in Madison County and could more easily utilize the facilities at SIU Edwardsville if you were a part of District 536.

However, we would certainly consider any recommendations on resolutions that we might receive for possible annexation to Belleville Area College.

3. Some of the articles indicated that we were going to recommend annexation of your territory to Lewis and Clark Community College at the Sept. 19 IJC meeting.

That is not true since the staff does not plan to have preliminary discussions on assignment of territory to junior college districts until the November meeting with final recommendations to be made at the December IJC meeting, prior to the Jan. 1 deadline by state law.

It is true that we consider such annexation as one of the four possibilities and possibly one of the best choice, but no official recommendation would be made until the November and December IJC meetings.

Local Boards of Education have until Dec. 1 to submit their preferential resolutions to us. Although we will have preliminary discussions at the November meeting of the IJC, we will not make our final recommendation until December after the Dec. 1 deadline.

3. Some of the articles indicated that the Illinois Junior College Board has not taken any action on the petition from Collinsville to join the Belleville Area College district.

To my knowledge we have not received a petition from Collinsville although I have received a preferential resolution.

If a petition was received we could take immediate action. However, the deadline for receiving preferential resolutions is Dec. 1, as mentioned above, and we do not plan to take final action on such resolutions until after the deadline date.

It is our current plan to resubmit to the IJC for its Oct. 19 meeting, the same recommendation we forwarded to them in September unless some additional information is received in the meantime.

Cong. Price seeks early social security raise

The social security increase scheduled for July 1, 1974, may be put into effect sooner than that if Cong. Melvin Price (D. East St. Louis) has his way.

Just prior to the August recess, the Congress enacted a 5.9 per cent cost-of-living increase in social security benefits, but payment was delayed for a year.

"Social Security recipients should not have to wait until next year to meet last year's inflation," said Cong. Price, who, with many other congressmen, is sponsoring a bill to eliminate the delay and effect the increase now.

"In light of the soaring increase in the cost of living and the worst inflation in our history, America's 21 million elderly citizens need our help now, not next year," said Price.

An identical measure already passed the Senate on Sept. 11 and is due to be considered in the House of Representatives, where support is increasing.

"There is nothing inflationary about giving our senior citizens an extra $9 a month," Price said. "Most are on small fixed incomes and now spend more than 30 per cent of their disposable incomes on food. In my district, many spend 50 per cent on property taxes."

"Senior citizens are not second-class citizens, and they should be able to benefit from the wealth of the nation to which they have contributed so much."

Plan new Indian donations

The American Indian Advancement Inc. of Troy has announced that it is planning another trip to deliver food, clothing and small household goods to needy reservation Indians. Plans are incomplete and further details will be announced later.

The organization members said they wish to publicly show their appreciation to area merchants, civic organizations, and individuals for their support of previous trips. Without the donations of funds and clothing, organizations could not function, they said.

Troy donors include G. A. Shaffer agency, Adelhart IGA, Adams Store, Edwards Funeral Home, Tasty Treat, Kismet TV, Troy Security Bank, John Harris, Tom Bozeman, Sam Kueker, Roods Paint Store, Bob Myler, Allens Drugs, Mrs. Gellum Burgess, Modern Linen, Troy Tribune, Pfeil Standard, Western Auto, Woodland Farms, Dr. Walter Zeilanko, A-1 Carbonic, American Legion, Arthur Wendler, Russ Wiesemeyer, at Edwardsville, Lewis Realty, at Granite City, Larry's Shell and the Minerva Women's Club.

The items were delivered to the Standing Rock Reservation in Wapka, S. D., by Mr. and Mrs. Nili Rapen of Edwardsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale McDowell of Collinsville. They reported that the trip was successful and the gifts were greatly appreciated by the tribal members.

Anyone wishing information or desiring to make a donation may do so by calling John Spence at 627-4131, Dale McDowell at 345-9044 or Bill Rapen at 656-4958.

Another last trip to Wapka, S. D., in June this year cost $365 with all but $100 in donations.

93-0 vote boosts prospect that pension law will pass

Washington—The Senate has set the tone and pace for pension reform, and it is now generally believed in Capitol Hill that the House will take the cue and pass its pension bill this year.

The very unanimity, 93 to 0, with which the Senate passed its bill embodying the four principles of reform may demonstrate to the House that the issue is non-controversial. It may be a compelling argument for the House Ways and Means Committee to act promptly on the legislation.

If a House-Senate conference is necessary to reconcile differences in the two versions, few major obstacles are foreseen because the bills are expected to be reasonably compatible.

The bills will probably differ only in degree and detail, not on the fundamentals of portability, vesting, fiduciary control and insured funding.

The result could be enactment of a pension reform bill this session if the President signs it. The Nixon administration proposed its own pension bill, but it omitted two salient features Congress obviously wants — federal insurance and portability.

Despite his victories in sustained votes this year, the President could get a Congressional override if he vetoes what appears at this juncture to be a popular pension reform bill.

These are some of the impressions gained in a series of interviews with knowledgeable staff members on committees on both sides of the Hill.

Main features of the Senate's pension bill would: — Vest, or guarantee, a worker's pension benefits, entitling him to 25 percent after five years on the payroll, 50 percent after 10 years, and 100 percent after 15 years.

Establish a federal insurance program, financed by workers, to insure workers up to half their highest five-year average pay, with a maximum $750 a month, if their pension plan fails.

Set minimum financing standards for pension plans and require all employers to fund over a 30-year period any plans not up to standard.

Safeguard pension funds from misuse by setting rigorous fiduciary standards.

Create a "portability" plan that would permit a worker, with his employer's approval, to take some of his pension benefits to a new job.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., has two amendments included in the pension bill and his legislative aides believe they will survive in the House version.

City engineer appointed

Months of searching by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and council members for a full-time city engineer came to an end Monday night as the city council concurred in the mayor's appointment of Monroe Brewer, a civil engineer.

Brewer is the first city engineer in many years. Recent administrations have utilized consulting firms for the city's engineering work rather than fill the vacant engineer post.

The new city engineer began work immediately. Brewer leaves the Zurich-Herrmann Consulting Engineers firm of St. Louis to accept the Granite City post.

He formerly worked for Pitzmann Co., surveyors of St. Louis, the St. Louis County Public Works Department and the Missouri Highway Department. "This type of work is not exactly new to me," he said Monday.

Brewer also was a civil engineer in the U.S. Navy and served in the Seabee Reserve Unit at Robertson Naval Training Center, St. Louis. He and his wife, Barbara, have one son. They reside in Florissant, Mo.

Etherton begins Kiwanis duties

Howard Etherton conducted his first meeting of the Granite City Kiwanis club as president Monday evening at Charlie's Restaurant.

Other Kiwanians officially taking office Monday were Joseph Palovich, first vice-president; Robert Schneider, second vice-president; Darrell Weible, treasurer, and Alvin Gross, secretary.

The club will hold its installation program at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 15, at Charlie's Restaurant. The Oct. 15 meeting also will be ladies' night and Lt. Gov. Roy Green of District 14, Glen Carbon, will be a guest of the club.

President Etherton appointed Peter Jellen as attendance chairman and informed the club that other committee appointments will be made in the near future.

Original play by freshman

An original play written by a freshman at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be presented at 7:15 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center.

The play, "We're Just People," was written by Lorenz Buford of Alton and includes 12 original songs with lyrics and music composed by Buford, Eugene Thomas and Nellie Thomas, Mrs. Thomas is also director of the play.

The play is three one-act vignettes. The first act shows a mother's and daughter's relationship with a blues singer. The second act shows a father's and son's relationship with a narrator who takes on the images of their thoughts, and the third act involves a young couple.

According to Buford, the play is about people who search for security and through this search lose their identity grasping for a secure foundation.

The play is being produced solely by students and is being sponsored by two student organizations, A.C.E.C., a student programming group, and the Black Students' Association.

New state laws on abortion explained

The issue of abortion has been the subject of much legislative and legal controversy, both on the national and state levels, and is the object of four new Illinois state statutes.

Three of the statutes set standards for abortion. A fourth law protects the rights of hospital personnel and other medical personnel—such as a doctor and nurse who for reasons of religion or conscience do not wish to perform or assist in performing abortions.

The Illinois State Bar Association today cited the standards on abortion which are now law.

No abortions in the third trimester (last three months) of pregnancy except for therapeutic abortions necessary to preserve the life or physical and mental health of the mother.

No abortion on the second or third trimester unless performed in a licensed hospital.

No abortions in the first, second or third trimester unless performed in a licensed hospital, safe facilities by an Illinois-licensed physician affiliated with a licensed hospital — after adequate counseling has been provided the patient and written permission has been obtained from her.

Altar Society honors faculty; Fr. Mattingly dinner Sunday

The annual pantry shower for the Sisters was held at St. Elizabeth School cafeteria. It also was the monthly meeting of the Altar Society.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Sister Mary Lucia. Mrs. Shirley Heath, president, welcomed 121 members, Sisters, guests and teachers.

Mrs. Heath announced that the Sacred Heart Altar Society president, Mrs. Marie Frehn, has extended an invitation to join with that group in a Day of Recollection Oct. 28 from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Mrs. Darlene Mackel, general chairman of the Christmas bazaar, reported on its progress and reminded all to reserve the dates of Nov. 3 and 4. There will be many booths and Christmas items, and meals will be served on both days.

On Oct. 7 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Father Lawrence Mattingly, pastor, will celebrate his fortieth anniversary as a priest and Father John Savoree his tenth anniversary. The day will start with Mass at 3:30 p.m., followed by a catered dinner at 5 p.m. in the cafeteria for parishioners. Mrs. Ann Fare is general chairman.

Mrs. Stephanie Sedel, representing St. Elizabeth in the nearly new shop of Church Women United of this area, reminded the ladies of the shop's need for clothes ranging in all ages, male or female. Each fourth Tuesday of the month anyone may bring clothes to the cafeteria and Mrs. Sedel will deliver them to the Church Women United.

Prize winners were Mrs. Catherine Ponce and Mrs. Lana Rogier.

Sister Mary Lucia, principal of St. Elizabeth School, introduced the faculty members. Sister Lucia said the science laboratory now in use is meeting a vital need. The Altar Society made possible the science project.

Mrs. Vivian Byer, membership chairman, said there were 24 new members at the meeting.

The evening's prize was won by Mrs. Lana Rogier, with other prizes going to Mrs. Marge Noth, Mrs. Martha Sampson, Mrs. Lillian Ortmann and Mrs. Darlene Mackel.

Room awards were given to the third grade room of Sister Mary Michael and the fifth grade room of Mrs. Schmelzel. A Madonna was given to Mrs. Marge Noth.

The pantry shower provided many items for the pantry shelf. Father Mattingly closed the meeting with prayer.

A luncheon was served to 121 members, Sisters, teachers and guests.

The area from which the luncheon was served was centered with a blue madonna imported from Italy, surrounded by rosebuds of blue. At each side were silver candelabras holding blue tapers.

The tables were covered with white tablecloths trimmed in lace with napkins of blue and yellow. Coffee and tea were served, poured from a silver tea and coffee set.

After a luncheon was served, all joined in games, with prizes going to all.

Punch and cookies were served from a table decorated with crystal.

The sixth grade mothers hosted the evening's refreshments, with Mrs. Jan Polach as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Janet DeKousse and Mrs. Ida Gragg.

Debra Terry becomes Mrs. Michael O. Cole

The wedding of Mrs. Debra Marlette Terry and Michael O. Cole was solemnized Sept. 29, in a candlelight setting at the First United Presbyterian Church in Madison.

Orange and gold 'mums with white roses and ferns decorated the altar for the 7 o'clock ceremony, performed by the Rev. Frank Christ.

June Cuvor and Laura Gibbs provided the nuptial music, including the selections "Theme from Love Story," "Wedding Song," "Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James Marlette, 3040 Mockingbird Lane. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cole, Rural Route One, Hettick, Ill.

For her wedding, the bride chose an ivory satin gown made in Empire style with a man-trin collar, long tapered sleeves and an A-line skirt. Delicate lace motifs marked the high rise waistline.

She wore a Juliet headpiece to secure her bouffant shoulder length veil and she carried a white tulle topped with a yellow and white roses corsage.

Matron of honor Mrs. Bill Cowan, a sister of the bride, wore an A-line dress created of orange, yellow and green floral print over yellow taffeta.

Her headpiece was in yellow velvet and she held a yellow 'mum festooned with matching ribbons.

Misses Dana, Andrea and Shellie Marlette, sisters of the bride, and Miss Penny Cole, the groom's sister, served as bridesmaids.

Their gowns were identical in style to the honor attendant's frock fashioned of floral print over orange taffeta. They wore orange headpieces and held orange 'mums.

Nicole Marlette, a sister of the bride, and Melissa Terry, the bride's daughter, were flower girls. They were dressed in orange crepe frocks trimmed in white velvet and each carried a white basket filled with orange and yellow 'mums.

The groom chose his brother, Kenneth Cole, as best man. Kevin Thaxton, Mark Lovell, Audie Ribble, James Sleska and Richard Shabo, cousins of the bride, and Lee Moreland, a cousin of the groom, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Vincent Sleska, the bride's cousin, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Jim Steel presided over the guest book at a reception held in the church hall after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlette, parents of the bride, served a rehearsal dinner in their home.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marlette selected a Victorian princess style gown of gold double knit. The high neckline and yoke were enhanced with ruffles.

Mrs. Cole, the groom's mother, was attired in an A-line style gown of orange double knit, featuring a V-neckline trimmed in lace.

The bride is a Granite City High School graduate and attended Belleville Junior College. She is now employed at St. Elizabeth Hospital in the pediatrics department.

Her husband, who works at Granite City Steel Co., was graduated from Palmyra High School.

The newly married couple is residing at 3209 Maryville Road.

Separates to long dresses to highlight autumn style shows

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Fashion conscious women in the Quad-City area have an excellent opportunity within the next few weeks to see at close range every conceivable new clothing style—from holiday "dress up" frocks to popular casual attire, plus the latest men's wear and children's outfits.

Three style shows are pending, arranged by local organizations to help benefit their charitable endeavors.

All promise to offer patrons something different in ensembles. And each will feature its own special variety of entertainment unique to the sponsoring group.

Opening the autumn fashion show season will be the Elite Hairdressers Affiliate 33 extravaganza at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Croatian Home, 1000 Madison Ave., Madison.

In addition to attractive and functional clothing fashions, the initial show will preview the latest trends in hair styling and a fantasy segment spotlighting the talents of local beauticians to create "way out" coiffures.

This part of the program usually elicits gasps of disbelief from the audience.

Mrs. Brenda Cant and Mrs. Jo Ann Pitra, co-chairmen, said tickets costing $1.50 each are available at most area beauty salons, may be obtained from Affiliate 33 members or may be purchased at the door Sunday.

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club will offer its annual style show at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14, at the Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., Madison.

Mrs. Judy Stille and Mrs. Marilyn Lunsford, co-chairmen, report the show will feature more than 60 outfits, refreshments and gifts for patrons.

Tickets cost $1 each and may be obtained from members of the Business Women's Club, Tops 'N' Bottoms or Marilyn's House of Fashion.

Holiday ensembles will hold a key spot in the Granite City Junior Service Club's fashion show, scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 4, starting at 2 p.m., at the Croatian Home in Madison.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Phyllis Grimm and Mrs. Louise Wade, who said tickets now are being sold by Junior Service club members at a cost of $2 each.

Sandwiches and other refreshments will be served during the afternoon and are included in the ticket price, the club officers reported.

Clothing for the shows will be furnished by Marilyn's House of Fashion, Tops 'N' Bottoms, Trattler's Men's Store, Leader Department Store, Lois Fashion Hut, Lord Nelson's and Glick's Department Stores.

Amnesty—for the taxpayer

Amnesty has become an oft-achieved word when it comes to the subject of draft dodgers, college demonstrators and prison rioters.

Now it has become important to the Illinois taxpayer. The reason? A directive issued by Robert H. Alphin, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

It said, in essence, that if errant taxpayers will voluntarily confess their wrongdoings to the department, they need not worry about facing criminal prosecution.

"If you don't, and we find you cheating or failing to file, we'll throw the book at you," Alphin warned.

Although compliance will remove the fear of criminal prosecution, it does not waive the department's right to civil

But, so far, the results have been far from encouraging. "To date, there has not been a great stampede to our investigation division," the director inserted.

This basic principle—voluntarily disclosing violations made against the state tax laws without fear of criminal prosecution—was used while Alphin served as revenue commissioner in Kentucky. He is a native of Warsaw, Ky.

"We had some success there," Alphin said. "It relieved a lot of the pressures often felt by the 'little guy.' It gave him an 'out' by admitting that we are all human and make mistakes."

Any taxpayer who wishes to voluntarily disclose an error may contact the department's investigation division which is headed by Phil Mitchell. The unit is located at Room 715, 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, 60601.

Bill to encourage car efficiency

His involvement in and concern over the energy crisis has prompted Cong. Melvin Price (D, East St. Louis) to sponsor legislation to encourage the development and sale of more efficient automobiles.

Basically, the bill would impose a graduated excise tax on automobiles based on their fuel consumption, beginning with the 1977 models. The intent of the legislation is to encourage manufacturers to make fuel efficiency a part of their marketing strategy.

"America has the technology to assume leadership in engine design for efficiency. All we need is a strong incentive to do so," said Price.

Fuel oil ceilings raised

Leon C. Green, district director of Internal Revenue for central and southern Illinois, has announced that gasoline diesel fuel and home heating oil retailers may make an upward adjustment in their ceiling prices effective immediately.

This increase comes as a direct result of higher costs of imported and domestic petroleum products.

The revised ceiling prices charged to each class of customer on May 15, 1973, plus the increased cost of products incurred between May 15 and Sept. 28 this year.

Dealers will calculate the amount of the increase in their selling prices permitted by the new action and will write a plus mark and the amount of the adjustment next to their currently posted ceiling prices, e.g. 38.9c+1.3c. The ceiling price adjustment must be posted no later than Oct. 5. Further interpretations may be obtained at (217) 525-4362.
